Heeding the Voices of Our Ancestors

Kahnawake Mohawk Politics and the Rise of Native Nationalism

By GERALD R. ALFRED
(Concordia University)

This book is the first comprehensive study of the driving force behind Native political activism, and the only scholarly treatment of North American Indian politics which integrates an explicitly Native perspective. With a broad historical sketch rich in detail, drawing on the particular experience of the Mohawks of Kahnawake, the text offers an explanation of Indian and Inuit political activism focusing on the importance of traditional values and institutions in shaping Native responses to the state.

Studying Public Policy

Policy Cycles and Policy Subsystems

By MICHAEL HOWLETT (*Simon Fraser
University*) and M. RAMESH (University of New England, Australia)

Many existing studies of public policy-making rely on the application of general assumptions about political life to specific case studies. In this work, the authors argue that this approach does not do justice to the wealth of empirical studies that point to a different set of factors responsible for general patterns of policy-making in liberal democratic states.

Following a discussion of the strengths and weaknesses of the existing approaches, Howlett and Ramesh survey the existing British, American and Canadian literature on policy action, institutions, and instruments, and derive the elements of an inductive, middle-range theory of public policy-making.

The Editorial Board considers manuscripts on an exclusive basis only; that is, a manuscript submitted for consideration must not have been previously published, nor be under consideration, nor accepted for publication, elsewhere. The Board may judge manuscripts unsuitable if they are too narrow or specialized for an omnibus political science journal.

Le comité de rédaction considère que les manuscrits lui sont soumis en exclusivité; c'est-à-dire qu'un manuscrit soumis ne doit pas avoir déjà été publié, soumis ou accepté pour publication dans une autre revue. Le comité peut considérer inadmissibles des manuscrits portant sur des sujets trop spécialisés ou trop étroits.
