"Caravaggio" Produced by Playhouse-in-The-Park, Cincinnati, Ohio. Directed by Word Baker. Sceneography by Jo Mielziner.

Go ahead. Try and paint scenery like this.

The last one who planted this type of material was Michelangelo Caravaggio, the Baroque painter who died in 1610.

So when Jo Mielziner had to design scenery for a play about Caravaggio, he didn't try to re-paint the artist's work. Instead, he used scenic projections of his own designs . . . and fragments from Caravaggio's canvases. The results, in the words of one reviewer, "provided flexibility for the actors and directors and fluidity to the production."

To get the effects he wanted, Mielziner used 20 Kliegl scenic projectors and 6 Kliegl-adapted Carousel projectors. A Kliegl SCR dimming system was used to control all of the projection equipment.

By adroit use of the projections and equipment, some scenes were played without any additional lighting. The actors could be seen in the light (or the reflected light) of the projections. You don't have to be Jo Mielziner, of course, to use scenic projections. But you can use the same sources Jo Mielziner turned to for equipment ideas, hardware and service.

It's easy to get complete data on Kliegl's line of scenic projection equipment. For fast service, write, call either office directly.

BLACK DANCE

IN THE UNITED STATES
FROM 1619 TO 1970
LYNNE FAULEY EMERY

Of course her book will serve as a ready and authoritative reference for dancers, anthropologists, and students of black studies, but it is so rich in human interest and so clearly organized that it should fascinate a far broader public. By the finish of the book we are acquainted not only with the history of black dance, but we also know much more about the enslaved and the enslavers, the psychology of colonialism, and the nature of those who have danced their way out of poverty and racial prejudice into the opera houses and concert halls of the world.

Documents of American Theater History

Vols. 1 and 2: Famous American Playhouses

William C. Young

Presenting a unique compilation of primary sources illuminating the history of American playhouses, from 1716 to 1970. Letters, diaries, journals and newspaper reports of participants and observers show how the American playhouse evolved architecturally from crude colonial structures to elaborate complexes, how theater companies were organized and financed, how audiences responded to the plays presented and how religious and cultural values affected the theatrical enterprise. Arranged chronologically. Lavishly illustrated, many pictures in color. Completely indexed for use as a reference book.

Volume 1, 1716-1899, ISBN 0-8389-0136-0 1973 Spring

Volume 2, 1900-1970, ISBN 0-8389-0137-9 1973 Spring

THE DRAMATIZATION OF "365 DAYS"

H. Wesley Balk

Based on the best-selling book by Ronald M. Glasser, M.D., which gives graphic, personal accounts of American soldiers in the Vietnam war, this dramatization has been presented at the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts. Richard L. Coe, reviewing the performance for the Washington Post, wrote: "... a moving threnody on our Vietnam dead. Its simplicity, grounded in theatre's deepest roots, reflected the deepest spirit of today's youth." Cloth $5.95, paper $1.95

SOPHOCLES OEDIPUS THE KING

Translated and adapted by Anthony Burgess

A highly dramatic and forceful version of the Greek classic by the distinguished novelist. With introductory comments by Burgess and by Michael Langham, who has directed the play for the Minneapolis Guthrie Theater. Volume 8 in the Minnesota Drama Editions series. Cloth $5.95, paper $1.95

THE GOVERNMENT INSPECTOR

Nikolai V. Gogol

Adapted by Peter Raby

Michael Langham of the Guthrie Theater, which will produce this version of the play, provides a director's introduction, placing the work in theatrical and literary perspective and discussing some interesting and significant aspects of this adaptation. The work is not a farce, he maintains, but rather a reflection of Gogol's neurotic world. Volume 7 in the Minnesota Drama Editions series. Cloth $5.75, paper $1.95

PLAYWRIGHTS FOR TOMORROW

A Collection of Plays, Volumes 8 and 9

Edited by Arthur H. Ballet

These two new volumes in the continuing series Playwrights for Tomorrow contain seven plays which have been written and produced under the auspices of the Office for Advanced Drama Research of the University of Minnesota. Arthur Ballet, director of the O.A.D.R., observes that the plays and playwrights represented are a mixed bag in every way: young and old, experienced and inexperienced, collegiate and professional, and small as well as large in endeavor, scope, passion, and vision. Each volume cloth $8.95, paper $2.95

STAGE DESIGN THROUGHOUT THE WORLD SINCE 1960

edited by Rene Hainaux

This third volume in the magnificent Unesco/International Theatre Institute series (described by Players as "a joy to anyone interested in theatre") concentrates on the non-traditional productions of a decade of revolutionary theatrical change. It arranges its comments and 521 pictures (in black and white and in full color) so that side-by-side are to be seen the designs artists in as many as a dozen countries have created to set the same play. There are special sections on "group theatres" and on the musical theatre and ballet. With indexes and facts of record, this book forms an incomparable visual and factual theatre treasure chest. 9 1/3 x 12 inches. $37.50

THE AMERICAN CENTER
FOR THE PERFORMING & CREATIVE ARTS

... is a unique two-year school for THEATRE AND FILM

... conceived by professional artists and educators in response to the needs of people and art in our time.

... is a non-profit school.

Our motto is: MANY IN ONE, because we believe that in each one of us there exists a source which can be expressed in MANY forms. The student will learn to integrate several disciplines of the performing Arts: an actor will know how a film cameraman feels, or how audio-visual equipment can express what he feels.

THE AMERICAN CENTER is not a school for specialists but for those who can perceive the interdependence of forms.

We believe in discipline, not regimentation; true knowledge not mimicry or gimmickry; human love, not slick surfaces.

THE CENTER has an ideal location within the Boston Center for the Arts, which houses an Opera Company, a Ballet Company, a Music School, several Theater Companies, and independent artists.

New Theatre workshop seminar for people who teach and direct june 19 thru 30, 1973

MEDICINE SHOW THEATRE ENSEMBLE is a group of professional actors who have moved beyond their traditional theatre training into the mainstream of experimental theatre.

"For the past two years, we have been performing our theatre pieces and leading related workshops in ensemble play construction, and in new movement, musical, and vocal techniques in New York and in cities and campuses across North America. Time after time teachers, students, directors, community people and professional performers have asked if we could stay longer, give them more work, come back and do a sequel, develop extended courses, or even start a school. So we decided to try a two-week, extensive session this June in Baltimore at the Theatre Project.

We'll use the techniques of the Open Theatre, Jerzy Grotowski, La Mama Plexus, and Medicine Show and apply them to a variety of theatrical situations -- from traditional, scripted plays to group-created pieces. You can gain personal skills in new theatre techniques and understand what they're about, and expand your own theatre work in your own way with us."

THE PROGRAM

- *8-hour days of physical and intellectual activity: Two, three-hour workshops daily. Every day a talking session in which the workshop skills are applied to problems in traditional and contemporary theatre.
- *Performances of Medicine Show and a new work-in-progress during the course.
- *Academic credit can be obtained from Antioch College.

STAFF

The Medicine Show Theatre Ensemble, including Barbara Vann and James Barbosa, original members of the Open Theatre will direct the workshops; Mark Samuels, director of the Theatre Project Ensemble.

Dr. Richard Schotter, Medicine Show's writer-in-collaboration, who teaches "New American Playwrights" at the New School for Social Research and is Literary Advisor to New York's American Place Theatre.

PLACE

The Theatre Project, Antioch College's urban theatre center in Baltimore, Maryland (2½ hours, Metroliner New York; - 40 minutes' drive from Washington.)

FOR PEOPLE WHO NEVER TAKE A CURTAIN CALL

Your work goes on behind-the-scenes, on the catwalk, at the control panel, or in the wardrobe room. You don't get the applause, or the rave notices — just the professional satisfaction of a job well done. But without your technical experience and skill there would be no show, no applause, no theatre. And now there is a magazine just for you, for the person involved in the technical aspects of theatre, THEATRE CRAFTS.

THEATRE CRAFTS is addressed to the people responsible for equipping, mounting and maintaining theatrical productions. It is for the person responsible for lighting, sound, set design, costuming, direction and the overall supervision of shows.

Start THEATRE CRAFTS coming your way with the latest issue. Be best informed in the latest developments in the technical theatre.

THE HOLLYWOOD SCREENWRITERS A Film Comment Book

Edited by Richard Corliss

A new evaluation of the screenwriter as a primary force in film making. Documents, interviews, a symposium of screenwriters on their craft, and 50 filmographies, constitute this first in a series Film Comment Book. Avon/Discus $1.95

... and published by  AVON

The Theatre Project offers undergraduates an arena for engagement in its urban theatre center. The Project serves as a context for student, staff and community initiated works. Antioch supports the student in designing his own educational encounter in personally and socially relevant terms.

A BOOK ON THE OPEN THEATRE

by Robert Pasoli

Describes today's most innovative acting group and the liberating method it has developed. The Open Theatre techniques sensitize the actor to the situation around him and help him to move, to mime, to return to the original excitement of the drama. Over two dozen photographs help in imparting the excitement and vitality of the techniques.

A DISCUS Book. $1.65.

THE CONTEMPORARY GERMAN THEATRE

edited by Michael Roloff

A unique anthology of plays written since the war. Chosen for the diversity of forms that has placed the postwar German theatre in the vanguard of today's drama. Includes: Now They Sing Again, Max Frisch; The Ride Over Lake Constance, Peter Handke; Hunting Scenes from Lower Bavaria, Martin Sperr; Home Front, Martin Walser; How Mr. Mockinpott Was Cured of His Suffering, Peter Weiss.

An EQUINOX Book. $4.95.

THE EMPTY SPACE

by Peter Brooke

A definition of theatre from one of the most influential modern directors. "Brook has altered the course of both the English and American theaters. THE EMPTY SPACE succinctly expounds the ideology that has produced those changes."—Charles Marowitz, The New York Times.

A DISCUS Book. $1.65.

ANTONIN ARTAUD: Man of Vision

by Bettina K. Knapp

Preface by Anaïs Nin

The author has traced Artaud's intellectual, philosophical and psychological development through his own works in order to bring into focus the visions and perceptions of this remarkable man. Provides a clear picture of the contributions of the creator of the Theater of Cruelty to modern theater.

A DISCUS Book. $1.65.

THE BEST SHORT PLAYS OF 1971

edited by Stanley Richards

Includes an introduction by the editor and biographical material on each of the 10 playwrights. Available in December.

An EQUINOX Book. $3.95.

CONTOUR IN TIME

the plays of
Eugene O'Neill

By TRAVIS BOGARD

The first full critical study to trace O'Neill's creative development through all 56 extant plays.

"Superb. . . . A real contribution to O'Neill criticism and our knowledge of the first major period in the American theatre."

— ROBERT W. CORRIGAN,
President, California Institute of the Arts

"A work of grand proportions and of major scholarly critical importance. . . . striking in the fusion of remarkable theatrical knowledgeableness and incisive critical perception. Only the combination of an experienced theater man and a trained literary scholar makes this possible, and it seems to me, nearly unique."

— *MARK SCHORER

"An impressive study. It presents a clear understanding of O'Neill's achievement as a playwright."

— JAMES D. HART,
University of California, Berkeley

and the Energies of Drama

by MICHAEL GOLDMAN

"Mr. Goldman's studies are extremely well-balanced and full of perceptive appreciation. He keeps to the point and writes with authority as well as modesty. I like very much all he says of Shakespeare's reliance on the visual possibilities, his expressive use of crowds and battles in the Histories and the magic denouements of The Winter's Tale and The Tempest. His opening chapter on the poems and sonnets is fascinating. The whole book is scholarly and convincingly readable and free of all the fashionable gimmickry of so much Shakespearean criticism over the last two decades."
