

WARRIOR'S WAY

Robert de Ropp

In The Master Game Robert de Ropp offered a bold prescription for doing battle with the forces that can enslave the mind.

In Warrior's Way, the story of his life and of his uncompromising search for truth, he tells of his own battle with those same forces and his struggle to emerge as a free man.

'Robert de Ropp's autobiography personifies a profound quest – a map from a man who truly lives the warrior's way.'

INWARD ODYSSEY

Dr Edith Schnapper

In the sacred literature of the world there is preserved the teaching of a Way or Path, known to the seekers of all ages. It is referred to in the Holy Scriptures as well as in mystical texts and although its description varies considerably it is always revered as the one sure means of divine realization.

The present book is concerned with outlining this Way which, according to the records, is a process of transforming man's entire being, and this process is traced, stage by stage, through its expression in symbols and images, common to all great religious traditions. The Inward Odyssey is to share with others the author's discovery that within the diversity of religious phenomena, so often the cause of misunderstanding, there is underlying unity in the very depth of religious experience.

Morality: Religious and Secular

Basil Mitchell

This book, based on the author's Gifford Lectures at the University of Glasgow, seeks to convey the moral confusion of today and to relate rival conceptions of morality to divergent views about the nature and predicament of man. It argues that many sensitive secular thinkers possess a traditional conscience which they find it hard to defend in terms of an entirely secular world-view, but which finds itself at home with a Christian understanding of man. £7.50

Karl Barth

Studies in his Theological Method

Edited by S. W. Sykes

This book analyses the fundamental methods of Barth's massive achievement against a contemporary background of uncritical enthusiasm and hostility. The essays by S. W. Sykes, D. F. Ford, R. H. Roberts and R. D. Williams take different major strategies pursued by Barth, especially in the Church Dogmatics, and subject them to critical analysis. £10

Persecution in the Early Church

Herbert Workman

Persecution of the Church is now more widespread than it has ever been. No book portrays more graphically for the general reader the sufferings of the martyrs of the first Christian centuries than Persecution in the Early Church which was originally published in 1906 and has since achieved the status of a classic. Oxford Paperbacks £1.50

All for Christ

Some Twentieth-Century Martyrs

Diana Dewar

It is not widely known that already in the twentieth century there have probably been more Christian martyrs than in all the previous centuries combined. In this book the author tells the stories of eleven of those who died as martyrs in the last forty years, all from different countries and cultures. Illustrated £4.95 Oxford Paperbacks £1.95

NOTES FOR CONTRIBUTORS

1. Contributions and books for review should be sent to the Editor, Professor H. D. Lewis, King's College, Strand, London, WC2R 2LS.
2. Articles submitted to the journal should in general be between 5,000 and 10,000 words long, though articles outside these limits will be acceptable if there is some good reason for their exceptional length or brevity. Articles in two or more parts may occasionally be accepted provided each part is independently intelligible. They should normally be in English.
3. Submission of an article is taken to imply that it has not previously been published, or is not being considered for publication elsewhere.
4. Contributions should be clearly typed in double spacing, preferably on A4 paper, with a wide left-hand margin. The typescript should be prepared to accord as closely as possible with the typographical conventions of the journal.
5. Footnotes should be used sparingly: in general, to give sources of direct quotations, references to main authorities on disputable questions, and evidence relied on for a new or unusual conclusion. They should be numbered in one sequence throughout the article, and should preferably be typed in double spacing at the end of the article.
6. Contributors should keep one copy of the typescript for correcting proofs.
7. First proofs may be read and corrected by contributors provided that they can give the Editor an address through which they can be reached without delay and can guarantee to return the corrected proofs to the Editor, by airmail where necessary, within ten days of receiving them.
8. Correction should be kept to an absolute minimum. It should be confined to errors of the typist or printer unless the Editor authorises otherwise.
9. All contributors of articles receive 50 free offprints. Reviewers will receive five or more offprints of their reviews.
10. If rejected manuscripts are to be returned, stamps or international coupons should be sent to cover postage, but it would normally be simpler just to retain a copy.
11. Contributors of accepted articles will be asked to assign their copyrights, on certain conditions, to Cambridge University Press, to help protect their material, particularly in the USA.
