New Titles From Berghahn Books

OSTHANDEL AND OSTPOLITIK

German Foreign Trade Policies in Eastern Europe, 1890-1960

Robert Mark Spaulding, Department of History, University of North Carolina at Wilmington

"Mark Spaulding has written a monumental long-term study of a century of Germany's East European trade that demonstrates its continued response to political as well as market pressures ... In an era when Germany is again the preponderant economic actor in East Central Europe, Spaulding's history also remains of acute contemporary relevance." Charles S. Maier

"A long-term perspective on a topic of vital current and continuing importance, and a major contribution to the study of German-Russian relations." Gerald D. Feldman

November 1996 • ca. 512 pages tables, fig., bibliog., index • ISBN 1-57181-039-0 hardback ca. $79.00

AFTER SOCIALISM

Land Reform and Rural Social Change in Eastern Europe

Edited by Ray Abrahams, Churchill College, Cambridge

The collapse of Soviet influence and the disillusionment with socialism in the early 1990s led to ambitious programs of economic reform throughout Eastern Europe. However, this volume demonstrates that the capitalist land reforms were not highly embraced by the local populace and were generally perceived as more damaging than beneficial to the Eastern European agricultural economy.

Available • 232 pages; bibliog., index • ISBN 1-57181-910-X hardback $49.95

QUEST FOR ECONOMIC EMPIRE

The European Strategies of German Big Business in the Twentieth Century

Edited by Volker R. Berghahn, John P. Birkelund Professor of European History, Brown University

"The collection of essays shows that the present drive by Germany to construct an integrated European economy derives from several precedents in German economic thought, including the imperial and Nazi periods." The Wall Street Journal Europe

Available • 237 pages; 23 tables, bibliog. • ISBN 1-57181-027-7 hardback $49.95

Contemporary European History

"It fills a significant gap at a very important time in the development of Europe."

The Times Higher Education Supplement

Edited by KATHLEEN BURK, University College London and DICK GEARY, University of Nottingham

Contemporary European History, published by Cambridge University Press, offers readers a fresh and innovative approach to twentieth-century European history, in its broadest sense. Encompassing Eastern and Western Europe (including the United Kingdom) in its remit, and covering the period from about 1918 to the present, Contemporary European History achieves both range and depth.

Coverage

Contemporary European History publishes:

- ◆ articles covering major areas of history – political, diplomatic, cultural, social and economic
- ◆ articles covering the smaller as well as the larger European states
- ◆ one issue per year devoted to a topic of central interest to contemporary historians
- ◆ book reviews
- ◆ abstracts in English, French and German
- ◆ a Noticeboard section in each issue, covering diverse areas of interest to all in the historical profession
- ◆ an annual critical survey of the twentieth-century history journals published by a particular European country
