

INSIDE THE ATLANTIC TRIANGLE

CANADA AND THE ENTRANCE OF NEWFOUNDLAND INTO CONFEDERATION,
1939–1949

David C.
MacKenzie

Recognition of Newfoundland's strategic importance in the Second World War led to a determination among a group of politicians and civil servants in Canada and the United Kingdom not to lose the island after the war. MacKenzie offers a comprehensive account of the efforts that paved the way for the creation of Canada's tenth province. $32.50

A NEW ENDEAVOUR

SELECTED POLITICAL ESSAYS, LETTERS, AND ADDRESSES

Frank R. Scott
Edited by Michiel
Horn

Spanning four decades of outspoken opinion on the political issues that were dear to Scott's heart, the writings in this collection deal with civil rights, socialism, Quebec politics, labour rights, social justice, and the political destiny of Canada.

A CONJUNCTION OF INTERESTS

BUSINESS, POLITICS, AND TARIFFS
1825-1879

Ben Forster

In this detailed account of events leading up to the adoption of the National Policy, Forster explores a wide range of political and economic forces and traces their influence on successive governments. His analysis illuminates a chapter in Canadian political history with implications for current discussions on import quotas, industrial policy, and free trade.

REGIONAL ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

CANADA'S SEARCH FOR SOLUTIONS

Donald J. Savoie

This book provides the ultimate in wisdom concerning regional economic development in Canada. Nor should this be surprising since Donald Savoie is arguably the foremost student of such matters in this country, combining both government experience and academic reflection with an inquiring mind.' THE FACES OF CANADA'S POLITICAL PAST

MR ATTORNEY

THE ATTORNEY GENERAL FOR ONTARIO IN COURT, CABINET, AND LEGISLATURE, 1791-1899

Paul Romney

The role of the attorney general evolved through the nineteenth century from that of a skilled functionary to one of central significance in the provincial cabinet. This penetrating study of the office and the men who held it sheds light on the legal and social history of Ontario and on the state of civil liberties in Canada today. $45.00

E.C. DRURY

AGRARIAN IDEALIST

Charles M. Johnston

Ontario's eighth premier led the United Farmers of Ontario to power in 1919. This study of Drury reveals an idealistic agrarian reformer, progressive populist, staunch temperance man, and advocate of free trade. $29.59

FRANK UNDERHILL

INTELLECTUAL PROVOCATEUR

R. Douglas Francis

Historian, social critic, political commentator, university teacher, and sensitive and articulate bellwether of his times, Underhill is a pivotal figure in Canadian intellectual history. Francis traces the development of Underhill's ideas and places them in the context of his personal life to create a portrait of one of English Canada's most important thinkers. $27.50

THE GOVERNMENT GENERATION

THE INTELLECTUAL AND THE STATE IN CANADA, 1900–1945

Doug Owram

The role of the state in a modern industrialized society became the focus of a lively and continuing debate among two generations of Canadian intellectual reformers in the first half of the twentieth century. Owram looks at that debate and its participants: Adam Shortt, W.L. Grant, Frank Underhill, W.C. Clark, Harold Innis, and many others.
