ARTICLES
Roman Catholicism and the Prussian State in the Early 1850s
Simon Hyde

Industrial Factionalism in Modern German History
Peter Hayes

The Business Elites of Hamburg and Berlin
Dolores L. Augustine

The German Peasant League and the Limits of Rural Liberalism in Wilhelmian Germany
George S. Vascik

REVIEW ARTICLES
New Books on German-Jewish History
Peter Pulzer

Germany and the Death Paradigm
Arden Bucholz

BOOK REVIEWS
Before Infallibility: Liberal Catholicism in Biedermeier Vienna,
by Adam Bunnell (Jonathan Sperber)

Police and State in Prussia, 1815–1850, by Alf Lüdtke,
translated by Peter Burgess (Jonathan Sperber)

Zwischen Marx und Monopolen: Der deutsche Mittelstand vom Kaiserreich zur Bundesrepublik Deutschland, by Heinrich August Winkler (Adelheid von Saldern)

The Chancellor as Courtier: Bernhard von Bülow and the Governance of Germany, 1900–1909,
by Katharine Anne Lerman (Isabel V. Hull)

The Munich Secession: Art and Artists in Turn-of-the-Century Munich, by Maria Makela (Joan Weinstein)

Hyperinflation and Stabilization in Weimar Germany,
by Steven B. Webb (William Carl Mathews)
ARTICLES
Jacob Boehme and the Thirty Years' War ...........................................
Charles A. Weeks

SYMPOSIUM: STATE BUILDING IN THE THIRD GERMANY
State Building and Bureaucracy in Early Nineteenth-Century Nassau...........
Barbara C. Anderson

Baden between Revolutions: State Building and Citizenship, 1800–1848......
Lloyd E. Lee

State Building and Nation Building in the Third Germany:
The Case of Saxony ...........................................................................
Lawrence J. Flockerzie

‘‘Modifying the Traditional for the Good of the Whole’’:
Commentary on State Building and Bureaucracy in Nassau, Baden, and Saxony in the Early Nineteenth Century ................................
Marion Gray

REVIEW ARTICLES
Toward a New Sociocultural History of the Rural World of Early Modern Germany .................................................................
John Theibault

German Physicians in the Nazi Era.....................................................
Eric D. Kohler

LETTER TO THE EDITOR
The Case of Hans Schafranek .............................................................
Richard Mitten
NATIONAL ENDOWMENT FOR THE HUMANITIES

NEH SUMMER SEMINAR IN BERLIN

The City and Modernity: Film, Literature, and Urban Culture in the Weimar Republic

Director: Anton Kaes
Dates: June 15 - August 7, 1992
Location: Berlin, Germany
Stipend: $4,000
Deadline: March 2, 1992

For further information and application forms, please write to Professor Anton Kaes, German Department, University of California, Berkeley, CA 94720.
Communal Reformation
The Quest for Salvation in Sixteenth Century Germany

Peter Blickle

Translated from German by Thomas Dunlap

"Peter Blickle's notion of the 'communal reformation' is the successor to his 'revolution of the common man' and should prove every bit as challenging and controversial. It moves discussion of the social history of the reformation onto a new plane, linking religious developments with wider political and constitutional developments over the long run of German history. As always with Blickle's work, it reveals his determination to uncover the political creativity of subordinate classes in German history."

Bob Scribner
Clare College, Cambridge

The most original and provocative book to appear in its field in the past quarter-century, Peter Blickle's groundbreaking study, which is intended for scholars and students interested in the history of pre-modern Europe, the development of Germany, the history of Christianity, and historical sociology, reconstructs the connection between the crisis of rural society at the end of the Middle Ages, the great Peasants' War of 1525, and the reformation as a social movement. Blickle focuses on southern Germany, Switzerland, and Austria in the later Middle Ages and the early Modern eras (roughly 1400 to 1600), though his work has important implications for the social and religious history of Europe as a whole.

Publication Date: May 1992
0-391-03730-7 Cloth 240 pp $45.00 SP249
Special Pre-publication offer $22.50

Humanities Press • 165 First Avenue • Atlantic Highlands, NJ • 07716
Phone 908-872-1441 • Fax 908-872-0717
The German Peasants' War
A History in Documents

Edited, translated and introduced by Tom Scott and Bob Scribner

"Scott and Scribner have thought of everything the teacher needs. A superb introduction—studded with wonderfully helpful maps—treats the significance, causes, organization, regional aspects, and military history of the insurrection. Then come the documents, translated with accuracy and piquancy by two of the best linguists among the English-speaking historians of the German reformation."

Thomas A. Brady, Jr.
Catholic Historical Review

The German Peasants' War of 1524-26 was the greatest popular uprising in European History before the French Revolution. Its significance is heightened by the contemporary struggle for religious renewal in the reformation, which had a decisive influence on its course. Yet very little writing in English has discussed the Peasants' War in detail. This volume analyzes the War through contemporary documents, both published and original, presented here in translation. Accompanying the selection of 162 documents is an extended introduction that traces the main issues facing historians in seeking to understand the revolt.

Special Paperback Price: $19.95
0-391-03681-5 Cloth $60.00
1991 376 pp, 8 maps SP249

Humanities Press • 165 First Avenue • Atl. Highlands, NJ 07716
Phone 908-872-1441 • Fax 908-872-0717

https://doi.org/10.1017/S0008938900016526 Published online by Cambridge University Press
As capital, Berlin always aroused ambivalent feelings among Germans. These contradictory attitudes found interesting expression in the novels written about the city in the first phase of its modern development. Reading these is not a task that will appeal to many people... but Katherine Roper has performed it for us by going through 130 novels written between 1870 and 1914, fifty of which she discusses in some detail. As she says at the outset, it is the intricate connections that the authors of these works—all of them drawn from the middle class and writing for middle-class audiences—made between the individual lives of their characters, the environment of Berlin, and the formation of a modernizing nation that gives this mass of literature historical importance.

Using individual works to analyze the fictional treatment of a spectrum of problems of nationhood and modernity, Katherine Roper argues that Berlin novelists envisioned in their works a particularly German revolution that would bring genuine national greatness, and she shows how they were impeded by distinct historical and cultural obstacles. Her book documents what Berlin novelists conceived as a struggle for Germany’s soul—and traces the stages of its defeat.

1991 280 pp LC 90-38585
Cloth 0-391-03695-5   $45.00

SPECIAL PRICE: $30.00