
Notes on contributors

Rod Adam has had a lifetime involvement with the Boys' Brigade in Queensland for more than sixty years. He has followed in the steps of his father who, after World War II, was instrumental in the development of the Boys' Brigade. At a state organisational level, Rod has been involved with program development and leader training, and he has served seven years as state president. rodadam72@gmail.com

Sally Baisden is Emergency Services Cadets Program Manager with the Queensland Police Citizens Youth Welfare Association (PCYC), where she has worked for eleven years in a variety of roles. She holds a Bachelor of Education (Primary) and a Bachelor of Human Services majoring in Child and Family Studies. sally.baisden@pcyc.org.au

Frank Bongiorno is Professor of History at the Australian National University and the author of The Sex Lives of Australians: A History (2012) and The Eighties: The Decade That Transformed Australia (2015). frank.bongiorno@anu.edu.au

Melissa Bull is Associate Professor in the School of Criminology and Criminal Justice at Griffith University. Her research interests include illicit drug regulation, justice responses for drug-related offenders, punishment practices and community policing in culturally and linguistically diverse communities. m.bull@griffith.edu.au

Barry Checkoway is Professor of Social Work at the School of Social Work, University of Michigan. He worked with the White House in 1990 to launch AmeriCorps, then served as founding director of the Michigan Neighbourhood AmeriCorps Program, Edward Ginsberg Center for Community Service and Learning, Michigan Youth and Community Program and Youth Dialogues on Race and Ethnicity. His research covers the themes of community organisation, community development, neighbourhood development, community-based policy advocacy, participatory research, youth empowerment and evaluation. barrych@mich.edu

Marion Diamond is an Honorary Associate Professor in the School of Historical and Philosophical Inquiry at the University of Queensland. Among her books are Ben Boyd of Boydtown (1995) and Emigration and Empire: A Life of Maria S. Rye (1999). She has a particular interest in biography. m.diamond@uq.edu.au

Eoin Dolan is a youth project worker with Foróige in Galway City, working with socially disadvantaged youth from the Eastside area. With nearly ten years' experience developing programs for young people, Eoin combines his professional experience of music and sound engineering to create youth-led musical environments for young people to engage in all aspects of creative disciplines in music practice, such as recording, songwriting, performing and sound engineering. eoin.dolan@foroige.ie

Robyn Gibbs was the State Learning and Development Manager of Girl Guides Queensland and an active member of the Girl Guides Australia Learning and Development Committee for four years, ending her term in mid-2016. She has held numerous positions within the organisation at both the state and national levels, and has represented Girl Guides Australia at international seminars, forums and conferences on leadership, adult training and development, and the implementation of programs to ignite social change. kuliar.rg@gmail.com

Philippa Hawke is currently a Senior Researcher at yourtown. She has managed mental health and youth-oriented services in the public and not-for-profit sectors over the past 25 years, and combines extensive social service performance monitoring and evaluation experience with clinical expertise training and supervising Kids Helpline telephone and online counsellors. Philippa's expertise in using technology to reach at-risk young people, and using data to build knowledge and improve child helplines and youth-oriented services has been sought at the national and international levels. philippa@kidshelp.com.au

Jen Hesnan is coordinator for the national creative education program TechSpace with Camara Ireland. She specialises in developing arts programs for community organisations. Jen works on developing and delivering training and participatory arts programs in digital media, STEAM technology and music with young people and educators from Ireland, Scotland and Colombia. She is a co-founder of the SoundSurfers youth music program. jen.hesnan@techspace.ie

Ross Homel AO is Foundation Professor of Criminology at Griffith University. In the early 2000s, Ross helped to establish the Australian Research Alliance for Children and Youth and its associated ARC research network. He has published three monographs and six edited books, as well as more than 150 peer-reviewed papers and numerous high-impact government reports. Ross has won many awards for his research on the prevention of crime, violence and injuries, and the promotion of positive development and wellbeing for children and young people in socially disadvantaged communities. r.homel@griffith.edu.au

Chris Howell MSc CPCC ORSCC FRSA is a team and leadership coach at People Systems Thinking Ltd, working in association with selected international training and coaching organisations to deliver smooth organisation transformations. He has over thirty years' organisation change experience and an academic background in psychology, organisation development and neuro-linguistics. chrishowell-001@gmail.com

Ray Kerkhove is a research fellow at Griffith University's Harry Gentle Resource Centre. Ray specialises in nineteenth-century Aboriginal history and culture, mostly in southern Queensland. He has worked for over thirty years with Aboriginal communities on their historical and cultural projects. He recently authored Aboriginal Campsites of Greater Brisbane (2016). raykerkhove@gmail.com

Anna Lund is Associate Professor in Sociology at Linnaeus University, Sweden. Her research focuses on gender, multicultural incorporation, opportunity structures for youth and learning processes. She has published articles in Gender and Education,

Identities: Global Studies in Culture and Power, Ethnography and the American Journal of Cultural Sociology. She is also a faculty fellow at the Center for Cultural Sociology (CCS) at Yale University. anna.lund@ynu.se

Kevin Mehmet MBE has been involved with the Air Cadet Organisation through 1475 (Dulwich) Squadron ATC since he was fourteen years old. Squadron Leader Mehmet was commissioned as an officer in the RAF Volunteer Reserve (Training Branch) in 1980 and in 1984 became the unit's Commanding Officer until November 2015. He developed the Leadership and Personal Development Course to prepare Cadet NCOs to carry out their duties more effectively. Kevin Mehmet is now the chairman of the unit's committee (Trustees) and still involved in delivering leadership training. dulwichaircadets@yahoo.com

Marion Minis works as project manager and trainer on social (inclusion) programs at Criss Cross Consultancy in Rotterdam. These programs include arts and sports as means to reach out to, and empower, vulnerable groups: youth, adults and the elderly. As an expert on 'social policy and inclusion', she participated at the European Citizen Consultation (ECC) and has chaired Graduate Women International's (GWI) 'Status of Women Committee' working (bottom up) on the program and content of GWI, and initiated a working group to develop an e-toolkit, 'Education & Human Rights', to facilitate GWI's worldwide membership. marion.minis@crisscross.cc

Denis O'Brien is the National Volunteer Development Manager for Foróige, one of Ireland's largest voluntary youth organisations, with more than 5,300 adult volunteers. Founded in 1952, Foróige aims to involve young people in their own development and in that of the community. Denis holds both Bachelors and Masters degrees in Youth and Community Studies from Brunel University in London. He is currently the Vice President of the National Youth Council of Ireland. denis.obrien@foroige.ie

David Osgarby is an MPhil candidate at the University of Queensland, currently focusing on the documentation and description of two languages of the Northern Territory of Australia: Ngarnka and Mudburra. He has also worked in Aurukun (Cape York Peninsula) with speakers of Wik-Mungkan, producing language and literacy development materials. d.osgarby@uq.edu.au

Kathryn Seymour is an Adjunct Research Fellow at the Griffith Criminology Institute, Griffith University. She is also now working as a Senior Researcher at yourtown in Brisbane. Her recent PhD and postdoctoral work has focused on the Queensland Youth Development Research Project. She has published on gambling and homelessness, Indigenous education and informal education, youth research methodology and youth program good practices. k.seymour@griffith.edu.au

Jennifer Skattebol is a Senior Research Fellow at the Social Policy Research Centre, University of New South Wales. Her research explores issues of economic inequality and how they are experienced by children, young people and their families. She is currently working on a longitudinal biographical investigation of young people using multiple service systems. j.skattebol@unsw.edu.au

Karen Struthers is a Research Fellow at Griffith University and a consultant. In a career spanning work in non-government organisations, government and research, Karen has promoted gender equality and end violence against women. In her previous role as a Member of Parliament and state government minister, Karen contributed through the Council of Australian Governments (COAG) to the landmark National Plan to Reduce Violence Against Women and Children. k.struthers@griffith.edu.au

Mats Trondman is Professor in Cultural Sociology at the Department of Cultural Sciences, Linnaeus University, Sweden. He is currently a Guest Professor in Childhood and Youth Studies at Stockholm University. Trondman's theoretically engaged empirical research is concerned with multifarious aspects of childhood and youth culture, focusing on areas such as education, schooling, sports, and the arts. mats.trondman@lnu.se

Corrie Williams is a PhD candidate in the School of Criminology and Criminal Justice at Griffith University. Corrie's thesis examines the cumulative risk related to coercive interactions and the protective role of social support from early childhood to early adolescence. corrie.williams@griffithuni.edu.au

Grace Williams is the Youth Coordinator of R4Respect, YFS Ltd. Grace has worked professionally in television and print media, communications and ministerial adviser roles in government. She is an advocate for gender equality and works to promote young women's participation in policy-making and other leadership roles. gracew@yfs.org.au

Dean Williamson has been a youth work practitioner for over ten years. His experience ranges from coordinating youth mentoring programs through community development and youth recreation to intensive coaching and support of high-needs families. He is currently employed at Youth Action as Sector Support Manager, responsible for the development of the youth sector in New South Wales. dean@youthaction.org.au

Tyson Whitten is a PhD candidate in the School of Criminology and Criminal Justice at Griffith University. His thesis focuses on examining the conceptual, theoretical and empirical aspects pertaining to persistent antisocial behaviour and offending. tyson.whitten@griffithuni.edu.au

Paul Wright is a Brisbane-based independent researcher who worked in the community services sector for 28 years until 2012, mostly in youth services — shelters and peak groups, as well as network/peer learning support and youth crime-prevention services. While he was manager of Impact, a youth crime prevention service, he partnered with Griffith University to implement the Youth Development Research Project. p.wright@griffith.edu.au

Instructions for Contributors

Further information at journals.cambridge.org/qre

SUBMISSION INSTRUCTIONS

Queensland Review publishes articles of approximately 5000-6000 words. Please email submissions to Queensland Review to the Lead Editor, Professor Kay Ferres, at: k.ferres@griffith.edu.au

1. At least two separate files must be submitted. If there are figures, three or more separate files must be submitted.
 - i A Title Page document. The name of this file must be constructed as follows: [first 20 characters of the title]_[ddmmyear]_QR_Title.doc
 - ii An Article document. The name of this file must be constructed as follows: [first 20 characters of the title]_[ddmmyear]_QR_Article.doc
 - iii Any Figure documents should be supplied with the name of the file constructed as follows: [first 20 characters of the title]_[ddmmyear]_QR_Figure# (with # being the number of the figure)
2. The Title Page and Article documents should be saved as Microsoft Word documents, in Times New Roman 12 pt font, double-spaced with margins of at least 25 mm on both sides and in A4 page size.
3. The Title Page document should contain the full title of the article as well as the full names and affiliations of all authors followed by full postal and email addresses for the corresponding author. A word count and suggested running head of no more than 50 characters including spaces should also be provided.
4. The Article document should include the complete article without any identifiable author details but including the title and an abstract not exceeding 200 words that provides a brief overview of the aims, method and major findings, without any citations. The abstract will not be published, but may be used for publicity purposes.
5. Tables should be created in Word and included at the end of the article after the references, with their approximate positions in the text indicated by the words, 'Insert Table X here'. Horizontal and vertical lines should be used sparingly.
6. Figures, graphs, illustrations and photographs (but not tables) should be prepared to the correct size and each one supplied as individual files, separate to the article. To ensure optimal quality, please follow the guidelines provided in the full instructions available at cambridge.org/qre

A list of figure captions should follow the tables in the article document. Captions must include sources and permissions for copyright material. It is the responsibility of the corresponding author to obtain written permission to reproduce any photographs or other copyright material.

REVIEW

All manuscripts are sent for blind peer-review to members of the editorial board and guest reviewers. The review process generally requires three months. The receipt of submitted manuscripts will be acknowledged by the editor, from whom a decision and reviewers' comments will be received when the peer-review has been completed. Papers submitted to the journal must not previously have been published, and must not be submitted for publication to any other journal while under consideration for Queensland Review.

STYLE AND REFERENCING

For details of the Queensland Review style, please see the style and referencing guide available at journals.cambridge.org/qre

1. Authors should follow Australian spelling and punctuation conventions throughout their articles (except in quotations from other sources, where the spelling convention of the original should be retained). Use the Oxford English Dictionary.
2. Use single inverted commas, except for quotations within quotations (which have double inverted commas). Punctuation should follow closing inverted commas except for grammatically complete sentences beginning with a capital.
3. Since Queensland Review is a multi-disciplinary journal, we accept referencing using either the short-title (endnote) system or the author-date (Harvard) system, depending on the disciplinary base on the author. Each individual paper must conform to one or other of these systems.
4. Use endnotes, not footnotes.
5. Include a bibliography only if the author-date (Harvard) system of referencing is used.
6. Generally notes should be kept brief. Source references should be given with as little additional matter as possible.
7. Quotations should be kept to a minimum and lengthy quotations should be avoided. As a general rule, quotations of more than about 60 words should be set off from the main text (indented with extra space above and below). Those of fewer than 60 words should run on in the text inside inverted commas.

Queensland Review

VOLUME 24 ■ NUMBER 1 ■ JUNE 2017

Editorial Kathryn Seymour	1
Youth Programs: New Directions
Building on strengths: A new framework for positive youth development program practice Kathryn Seymour	5
The challenges of delivering good practice for volunteer youth workers in youth development organisations Rod Adam	23
How adult volunteers contribute to positive youth development in the twenty-first century Denis O'Brien	28
Positive relationships in community youth development organisations: A reflection on changing organisational relationships in Girl Guides Australia Robyn Gibbs	34
Building youth leadership confidence in 1475 (Dulwich) Squadron Air Training Corps: Handling challenges with no right answer and focusing on positives Kevin Mehmet and Chris Howell	42
From paper to program: Successfully translating an idea into a reality Marion Minis	50
Dropping out/dropping back in: Matters that make learning matter Anna Lund and Mats Trondman	57
Building community capacity and resilience through Emergency Services Cadets Sally Baisden	75
Sound Surfers: Developing a high-quality and empowering youth program Jen Hesnan and Eoin Dolan	80
Adults as allies to young people striving for social justice Barry Checkoway	93
Principled action by young people: R4Respect Karen Struthers and Grace Williams	100
'Don't just listen: Tell me what to do!' Philippa Hawke	116
Collecting and using youth development outcomes data to improve youth work practice Dean Williamson	123
'Stories from beyond': Understanding the lifeworlds of young people Jennifer Skattebol	129
Making the most of youth development: Evidence-based programs and the role of young people in research Kathryn Seymour, Melissa Bull, Ross Homel and Paul Wright	147
Reviews
Review of Land and Language in Cape York Peninsula and the Gulf Country edited by Jean-Christophe Verstraete and Diane Hafner David Osgarby	163
Review of Positive Youth Development Through Sport edited by Nicholas L. Holt Tyson Whitten	164
Review of A Critical Youth Studies for the 21st Century by Peter Kelly and Annelies Kamp Andy Kaladelfos Corrie Williams	166
Review of Sex Crimes in the Fifties by Lisa Featherstone and Amanda Kaladelfos Frank Bongiorno	167
Review of Brisbane Diseased: Contagions, Cures and Controversies by Alana Piper Marion Diamond	169
Review of Dark Emu Black Seeds: Agriculture or Accident? by Bruce Pascoe Ray Kerkhove	170
Erratum	172
Notes on contributors	173

Cambridge Core

For further information about this journal
please go to the journal website at:

cambridge.org/qre 2017.26 Published online by Cambridge University Press

CAMBRIDGE
UNIVERSITY PRESS