BIBLIOTHECA CORVINIANA: DIE BIBLIOTHEK DES KÖNIGS MATTHIAS CORVINUS VON UNGARN. This is the second edition (336 pages) of the volume edited by Dr. Csaba Csapodi and Dr. Klara Csapodi-Gardonyi and published in Budapest by Magyar Helikon in Hungarian, German, and English. The volume was first published in 1969. This 1978 edition includes a scholarly introduction on the library of King Matthias Corvinus of Hungary (d. 1490) and its history; a critical description of 194 volumes, most of them illuminated manuscripts which were once a part of that library and are now scattered over Europe and the United States; and 114 color reproductions (seven of them new plates), with full descriptions, of the illuminated title pages and of a few bindings that decorate many of these volumes. The bibliography and footnotes have been brought up to date. [P.O.K.]

BIBLIOGRAPHIE INTERNATIONALE DE L'HUMANISME ET DE LA RENAISSANCE, No. XI, Travaux parus en 1975, has been published by Librairie Droz (11 rue Massot, Geneva). The volume, which has 828 pages, costs Fr.S.150, less 20 per cent to RSA members. The RSA office in New York will accept members' orders and forward them to Librairie Droz for billing and mailing. Please do not send payment to the Society. This is the first volume edited by the new Center for Renaissance Studies at the Newberry Library, with the support of a generous grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities. Scholars interested in participating in the editorial work are invited to communicate with John Tedeschi, The Newberry Library, 60 West Walton Street, Chicago, Illinois 60610.
