A Bridge over Troubled Waters

Dispute Resolution in the Law of International Watercourses and the Law of the Sea

Hélène Ruiz Fabri, Max Planck Institute Luxembourg for Procedural Law / Sorbonne Law School, Erik Franckx, Vrije Universiteit Brussel, Marco Benatar, International Tribunal for the Law of the Sea, Tamar Meshel, University of Alberta Faculty of Law

What progress has been made in the resolution of disputes concerning international watercourses and the oceans, and what are future paths? The chapters of this edited collection, written by renowned academics and practitioners, enable you to reflect on the achievements and setbacks that characterize each field and their potential for cross-fertilization. Four major themes are explored: the shifting boundaries of "traditional" methods of dispute settlement; the contributions made by relevant organizations to dispute settlement; the interplay between substantive and procedural rules; and case studies on dispute resolution in the Nile and the Arctic.

Changing Actors in International Law explores actors other than the 'state' in international law with a particular focus on under-researched actors or others that do not easily fit the category of a non-state actor (such as quasi-states, trans-government networks, Indigenous Peoples and self-determination claimant groups). ## Saving Succeeding Generations from the Scourge of War

The United Nations Security Council at 75

Niels Blokker, Leiden University

How did the Security Council function during its first 75 years, from an institutional legal perspective? This book analyzes three issues that were not only hotly debated when the United Nations was founded, but have also been highly relevant for the Council's functioning in practice and are likely to remain so in the future: the right of veto for the permanent members, the rule of law, and the size of the Council (the need for enlargement).
