Wisdom

Its Nature, Origins, and Development

Edited by Robert J. Sternberg

This authoritative volume represents the only complete collection of psychological views of wisdom currently available. It introduces the concept of wisdom, considers philosophical issues and developmental approaches, and covers folk conceptions of the topic.

1990 375 pp. 36453-1 Hardcover $42.50
36718-2 Paper $16.95

Metaphors of Mind

Conceptions of the Nature of Intelligence

Robert J. Sternberg

This text seeks to enable readers to understand human intelligence as viewed from a variety of standpoints, such as psychology, anthropology, computational science, sociology, and philosophy.

1990 300 pp. 35579-6 Hardcover $44.50
38633-0 Paper $17.95

Before the Gates of Excellence

The Determinants of Creative Genius

R.A. Ochs

This comprehensive survey of productive creativity explores the theoretical concepts of creativity and the creative process, attempts to explain the determining factors, and represents almost all schools of thought and methodological approaches.

1990 300 pp. 37557-6 Hardcover $49.50
37699-8 Paper $17.95

Issues in the Developmental Approach to Mental Retardation

Edited by Robert M. Hodapp, Jacob A. Burack, and Edward Zigler

This is one of the first books exclusively devoted to applying the theories, findings, and approaches used in work with nonretarded children to several types of retarded individuals.

1990 336 pp. 34619-3 Hardcover $44.50

Straight and Devious Pathways from Childhood to Adulthood

Edited by Lee N. Robins and Michael Rutter

The twenty chapters in this volume present the findings from recent major longitudinal studies in psychopathology, extending from childhood into adulthood.

1990 389 pp. 36408-6 Hardcover $59.50

Affect and Social Behavior

Edited by Bert S. Moore and Alice M. Isen

This book provides the first integrative and comprehensive examination of current research and theory into the role that emotion plays in influencing social behavior.

Studies in Emotion and Social Interaction
1990 277 pp. 32768-7 Hardcover $49.50

Peer Rejection in Childhood

Edited by Steven R. Asher and John D. Coie

This important collection assembles current research on children who encounter difficulty in gaining acceptance and forming friendships among their peers.

Cambridge Studies in Social and Emotional Development
1990 420 pp. 39183-0 Hardcover $59.50
39836-3 Paper $18.95

Social Representations and the Development of Knowledge

Edited by Gerard Duveen and Barbara Lloyd

This volume raises for the first time developmental issues in relation to the theory of social representations, which Serge Moscovici introduced to account for the influence of social life on psychological processes.

1990 191 pp. 36368-3 Hardcover $49.50

Sequential Analysis

John M. Gottman and Anup K. Roy

This book aims to detect the recurring sequential patterns in a stream of coding categories describing social interaction. These techniques can be employed to study the repertoires of individuals and of dyads and groups.

1990 230 pp. 34665-7 Hardcover $29.95

Metaphors in the History of Psychology

Edited by David E. Leary

The contributors argue that psychologists have turned to metaphor to articulate their theories regarding psychological functioning. By specifying major metaphors in the history of psychology, the contributors offer a "key" to understanding this area of knowledge.

Cambridge Studies in the History of Psychology
1990 416 pp. 37166-X Hardcover about $49.50

Introduction to Configural Frequency Analysis

The Search for Types and Antitypes in Cross-Classifications

Alexander von Eye

This is a comprehensive introduction to configural frequency analysis, its rationale, and various modifications. It deals with methods that focus on groups of subjects in contingency tables.

1990 230 pp. 38090-1 Hardcover $37.50

Now in hardcover...

Inquiry by Design

Tools for Environment-Behavior Research

John Zeisel

Illustrating his points with many references to actual projects in North America and Europe, the author explains, in non-technical language, the integration of research and design.

Instructions for Contributors

Development and Psychopathology strongly encourages contributions from a wide array of disciplines, because an effective developmental approach to psychopathology necessitates a broad synthesis of knowledge. Manuscripts will be considered that address, for example, the causes and effects of genetic, ontogenetic, biochemical, cognitive, or socioeconomic factors in developmental processes with relevance to various risk or psychopathological conditions. The journal also seeks articles on the processes underlying the adaptive and maladaptive outcomes in populations at risk for psychopathology.

Manuscript Submission

Four copies of each manuscript should be submitted to:

Dante Cicchetti, PhD
Department of Psychology
Director, Mt. Hope Family Center
University of Rochester
187 Edinburgh Street
Rochester, NY 14608, U.S.A.

Manuscript Review Policy

Manuscripts will have a blind review by at least two scholars. Every effort will be made to notify authors within 8 weeks of submission concerning the reviewers' recommendations and comments. Manuscripts will be promptly published upon acceptance. Development and Psychopathology has no page charges.

Manuscript Preparation and Style

All manuscripts must be typed on 8 1/2" × 11" or A4 white bond paper with ample margins on all sides. The entire manuscript—including abstract, tables, and references—must be double-spaced. Manuscript pages must be numbered consecutively. Language of publication: English. Follow the general style guidelines set forth in the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (3rd ed.). The Editor may find it necessary to return manuscripts for reworking or retyping that do not conform to requirements. Manuscripts must be arranged in the following order:

Title Page (page 1). To facilitate blind review, all indication of authorship must be limited to this page; other pages must only show the short title plus page number at the top right. On the title page include (a) full article title; (b) name and affiliations of all authors; (c) mailing address and telephone number of the lead author; (d) address of where to send offprints, if different from the lead author; (e) short title of less than 50 characters.

Abstract Page (page 2). Include (a) full article title; (b) abstract of no more than 200 words; (c) up to 5 keywords for indexing and information retrieval.

Acknowledgments (page 2). These should be placed below the abstract. Use this section to indicate grant support, substantial assistance in the preparation of the article, or other author notes.

Text (page 3). Use a 5-character paragraph indent. Do not use desk-top publishing features, such as right margin justification or italic/bold typefaces.

References. Bibliographic citations in the text must include the author's last name and date of publication, and may include page references. Examples of in-text citation styling are: Brown (1983), Ingram (1976, 54–55), Smith and Miller (1966), (Smith & Miller, 1966), (Peterson, Danner, & Flavell, 1972), and subsequently (Peterson et al., 1972). If more than one, citations must be in alphabetical order. Every in-text citation must be included in the reference section; every reference must be cited in the text. Examples of reference styling are:

Journal Article

Sroufe, L. A., & Rutter, M. (1984). The domain of developmental psychopathology. Child Development, 55, 17–29.

Book

Piaget, J. (1962). Play, dreams, and imitation in childhood. New York: Norton.

Chapter in an Edited Book

Cicchetti, D., & Pogge-Hesse, P. (1982). Possible contributions of the study of organically retarded persons to developmental theory. In E. Zigler & D. Balla (Eds.), Mental retardation: The developmental-difference controversy (pp. 277–318). Hillsdale, NJ: Erlbaum.

Appendix (optional). Use only if needed. May be useful for review, but not appropriate for publication.

Tables. Tables must appear as a unit following the reference section. Each table should be typed double-spaced on a separate sheet, numbered consecutively with an Arabic numeral and a short title. (Example: Table 5. Comparisons on language variables.) All tables must be cited in the text.

Figures. Figures must appear as a unit following the tables. Each figure must be numbered consecutively with an Arabic numeral and a descriptive legend. Legends must be typed together, double-spaced, on a separate sheet preceding the artwork. (Example: Figure 3. Progress in language development.) Figures must be supplied no larger than 8" × 10", be black and white, and be ready for photographic reproduction. Diagrams must be professionally rendered or computer generated. All labels and details must be clearly printed and large enough to remain legible at a 50% reduction. Artwork should be identified by figure number and short title and be carefully packaged in a protective envelope. All figures must be cited in the text.

Copyediting and Page Proofs

The publisher reserves the right to copyedit manuscripts to conform to journal style. The lead author will receive page proofs for correction of typographical errors only. No rewriting of the accepted manuscript is allowed in the proof stage. Authors must return proofs to Cambridge within 48 hours of receipt or approval will be assumed.

Offprints

The lead author will receive 25 free article offprints of his or her article. A form accompanying page proofs allows the lead author to order complete copies of the issue and/or purchase of additional offprints. All coauthor offprint requirements must be included on this form. Orders received after the issue is printed are subject to a 50% reprint surcharge.

Copyright and Originality

It is a condition of publication that all manuscripts submitted to this journal have not been published and will not be simultaneously submitted or published elsewhere. All authors must sign the Transfer of Copyright Agreement, available from the publisher, before an article can be published. Government authors whose articles were created in the course of their employment must so certify in lieu of copyright transfer. Authors are responsible for obtaining written permission from the copyright owners to reprint any previously published material included in their article.
