

Erratum

The following are corrections concerning errors that occurred in the Journal of the International Neuropsychological Society, Vol. 15, No.1, January 2009. In the Book Review titled “A New Entry for Neuropsychology’s Library of Classics,” pp. 160–162, by Dr. Elisabeth M.S. Sherman, there were errors on pages 160 and 161. The incorrect copy as printed, and the correct copy are shown in boldface below.

Page 160

Incorrect copy as printed: At the first paragraph, left column, lines 9 to 11, the errant copy reads: “the Compendium of Neuropsychological Tests by Spreen and Strauss² (1998; now Strauss, Spreen & Scherman, 2006),

Correct copy:

“the Compendium of Neuropsychological Tests by Spreen and Strauss² (1998; now Strauss, Sherman, & Spreen, 2006),

Page 161

Incorrect copy as printed: At the first paragraph, left column, lines 3 to 6, the errant copy reads: “Stefanatos and Joe provide a comprehensive review chapter on autistic disorder that I have read a second and also another chapter on pervasive developmental disorders,”

Correct copy:

“Stefanatos and Joe provide a comprehensive review chapter on autistic disorder and a second chapter on pervasive developmental disorders,”

Page 162

Incorrect copy as printed: At the first paragraph, left column, lines 17 to 18, the errant copy reads: “all the accumulated knowledge of an entire discipline. with you.” (There is an erroneous period after “discipline”)

Correct copy:

“all the accumulated knowledge of an entire discipline with you.”

Cambridge University Press and the JINS Editors regret the inconvenience that these errors may have caused.