Graduate Program in Global Theater and Performance Studies at UCSB

Ranked as the third most productive program in terms of faculty publications by the 2009 National Research Council report, the graduate program in Theater Studies at the University of California at Santa Barbara offers an ideal environment for advanced work in theater scholarship. Our M.A., M.A./Ph.D, and Ph.D. programs, which offer an unusually wide-ranging and diverse curriculum in global theater studies, provide comprehensive training for a career in academia, and show an excellent record of degree completion, employment, and publications. All graduate students benefit from close interaction with the graduate faculty, ready access to advisors, individual mentoring, and a vigorous dialogue on research and pedagogy. Pending budget approval, a minimum of three years of support is promised to all who are admitted to the PhD program, and support packages can range up to six years. Options for those who wish to expand practical training are available, but the program's emphasis is on scholarship. Our award-winning graduate faculty members bring to the program an impressive range of training and expertise:

- Ninotchka Bennahum (Ph.D. NYU), dance history and criticism
- Leo Cabranes-Grant (Ph.D. Harvard), Spanish, Latin American, and intercultural theater
- Suk-Young Kim (Ph.D. Northwestern), Asian and Russian theater, popular culture
- William Davies King (D.F.A. Yale), American drama and theater, dramaturgy
- Christina McMahon (Ph.D. Northwestern), African theater, performance studies
- Carlos Morton (Ph.D. Texas-Austin), U.S. Latino & Latin American theater, playwriting
- Simon Williams (Ph.D. East Anglia) German theater, European drama, opera
- Erin Cressida Wilson (M.A. Brown University), playwriting, screenwriting

Please contact the director of admissions (skim@theaterdance.ucsb.edu) for any questions regarding our graduate programs.

CAMBRIDGE LIBRARY COLLECTION

Books of enduring scholarly value

In the spirit of Cambridge University Press's continued commitment to innovation and enterprise, the Cambridge Library Collection will launch in July 2009, making an initial group of 475 out-of-print books available again. Another 1,000 will follow by the end of 2009 and 3,000 titles a year will be added as the program continues.

Drawing from the world-renowned collections in the Cambridge University Library, these books are carefully selected by experts in each subject area because of their scholarly importance or as landmarks in the history of their academic discipline.

Cambridge University Press is using state-of-the-art scanning machines to capture the contents of each book. The files are processed to give a consistently clear, crisp image, and the books finished to the high-quality standard for which the press is recognized around the world. The latest print-on-demand technology ensures that the books will remain available indefinitely.

The Cambridge Library Collection will revive books of enduring scholarly value across a wide range of disciplines in the humanities, social sciences, science and technology.

NEW THEATRE QUARTERLY

New Theatre Quarterly provides a vital international forum where theatrical scholarship and practice can meet and where prevailing dramatic assumptions can be subjected to vigorous critical questioning. It shows that theatre history has a contemporary relevance, that theatre studies need a methodology and that theatre criticism needs a language. The journal publishes news, analysis and debate within the field of theatre studies.

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY PRESS

Cambridge Opera Journal

Editors:

Suzanne Aspden, University of Oxford, UK
Steven Huebner, McGill University, Canada

Containing lively and provocative essays, Cambridge Opera Journal has a well-established reputation for publishing first-rate scholarship on opera in all its manifestations.

Cambridge Opera Journal not only contains material on all aspects of the European canon, it has now widened its scope to publish high-quality essays on American opera and musical theatre, on non-Western music theatres, and on contemporary works. Carefully researched and often illustrated with music examples and pictures, articles adopt a wide spectrum of critical approaches.

As well as major articles, each issue generally includes reviews on recent publications of importance in the field.

THE AMERICAN SOCIETY FOR THEATRE RESEARCH

The American Society for Theatre Research (ASTR) is a U.S.-based professional organization that fosters scholarship on worldwide theatre and performance, both historical and contemporary. ASTR was founded in 1956 to encourage theatre scholarship in the United States and to provide a link to similar research-oriented organizations, such as the International Federation for Theatre Research/La Fédération Internationale pour la Recherche Théâtrale (IFTR/FIRT). ASTR was incorporated under the laws of the state of New Jersey as a nonprofit corporation in 1967, and is the only theatre organization in the United States formally affiliated with both the American Council of Learned Societies and with the IFTR/FIRT. The ASTR Annual Meeting occurs in the fall of each year.

Theatre Survey, the official journal of ASTR, is published biannually in May and November, and is one of the benefits of membership in the Society. ASTR annual dues for North Americans are $115.00 for individual members, $40.00 for retired members, $35.00 for students. Foreign members pay an additional $7.50 in each of the above categories. Inquiries about ASTR, including membership, should be directed to:
