NORTHERN SCIENTIFIC RESOURCE CENTRES

IGLOOLIK

These resource centres are operated by Indian and Northern Affairs Canada to assist government, university and industrial scientists and other research workers with a valid interest in northern science.

Each laboratory is designed and equipped to support a range of laboratory investigations and act as a base from which scientific field parties can be mounted and supported.

Both resource centres offer:

- Scientific equipment and facilities including gas, compressed air, vacuum sources, fume hoods, balances, research microscopes, distilling units and spectrophotometers; Igloolik also offers an EDP system.
- Support facilities including offices, libraries, conference rooms, workshops, darkrooms, storage, accommodations, and local transportation and communications.
