ASIAN STUDIES FROM STANFORD

Witness Against History

Literature, Film, and Testimony in Twentieth-Century China

YOMI BRAESTER

This study offers fresh readings of milestones in twentieth-century Chinese fiction, film, and drama and argues that they have questioned the faith in historical progress and in the viability of a sphere of free debate.

Cultural Centrality and Political Change in Chinese History

Northeast Henan in the Fall of the Ming

ROGER V. DES FORGES

"This is an accessible, elegant, and rewarding book on the fall of the Ming. Though Des Forges focuses on the setting and experiences of northeast Henan during the seventeenth century, he amply demonstrates that these particular events and characters are central to the period. His broad palette of sources allows Des Forges to provide a unique blend of individual and collective biography, institutional history, and narrative. He gives us the big picture without sacrificing the personal and particularistic detail."

Decisive Encounters

The Chinese Civil War, 1946-1950

ODD ARNE WESTAD

"This is an absolutely fundamental, pathbreaking book that is full of new evidence and important new conclusions. Westad uses newly available post-Cold War Chinese (both Communist and Nationalist) and Russian sources to establish the documentary foundation for his exciting study. This is not an ordinary history of the Chinese Civil War, for Westad's grand narrative deals with the conflict not only as a military confrontation between the Communists and Nationalists, but also as an important historical event on three different yet interrelated levels—local, national, and international."

University of Virginia

Building Culture in Early Qing Yangzhou

TOBIE MEYER-FONG

"This innovative book will be important to students of the cultural history of late imperial China. Of particular value is Meyer-Fong's combining of the history of institutions under elite patronage with elite literary production, reading the one to illuminate the other. Her ability to detect complex cultural influences and display them against the conditions of the time is masterful."

Between Assimilation and Independence

The Taiwanese Encounter Nationalist China, 1945-1950

STEVEN E. PHILLIPS

"This very important work is the best single English-language book on this period of Taiwanese history. It provides both the microcosm of the 2-28 incident—in all its chilling detail—and the macrocosm of retrocession Taiwan. It will be a standard work for many years."

From Leninist Discipline to Socialist Legalism

Peng Zhen on Law and Political Authority in the PRC

PITMAN B. POTTER

This is the first full-length study in English of Peng Zhen (1902-1997), a revolutionary comrade of Mao Zedong and Deng Xiaoping, and an influential legal policymaker in China during both men's regimes.

Confronting Vietnam

Soviet Policy toward the Indochina Conflict, 1954-1963

ILYA V. GAIDUK

Based on extensive research in the Russian archives, this book examines the Soviet approach to the Vietnam conflict between the 1954 Geneva conference on Indochina and late 1963, when the overthrow of the South Vietnamese president Ngo Dinh Diem and the assassination of John F. Kennedy radically transformed the conflict.

A co-publication with the Woodrow Wilson Center Press, Washington, D.C.

Picking Winners?

From Technology Catch-up to the Space Race in Japan

SAADIA M. PEKKANEN

Using case studies and econometric analyses, the author finds that the post-war Japanese state mainly engaged in industrial policy based on economic and not—as is assumed in mainstream political economy theories—political criteria.

NEW FROM OXFORD!

THE HIDDEN HISTORY OF THE TIBETAN BOOK OF THE DEAD

BRYAN J. CUEVAS

Cuevas tells the story of how The Tibetan Book of the Dead was compiled, of the lives of those who preserved and transmitted it, and explores the history of the rituals through which the life of the dead is imagined in Tibetan society. This book provides not only a fascinating look at a popular and enduring spiritual work, but also a much-needed corrective to the proliferation of ahistorical scholarship surrounding this text.

THE GODDESSES' HENCHMEN

Gender in Indian Hero Worship

LINDSEY HARLAN

Harlan explores the idea of the Rajput hero, focusing on the role played by gender in stories about heroes and in their worship. She looks at the differences between female and male storytellers, the relationships of the hero to the women in his tale, and the relationship of the hero to the goddess for whom he is both sacrifice and henchman. Ultimately she shows how heroic traditions encapsulate and express ideals of perfection and masculinity, defined most visibly against the backdrop of domesticity and femininity.

FOUR ILLUSIONS

Candrakirti's Advice for Travelers on the Bodhisattva Path

Translation and Introduction by KAREN C. LANG

This book provides the first English translation of Candrakirti's commentary (ca. 6-7th century C.E.) on four illusions that prevent people from becoming Buddhas. Lang's translation captures the clarity of Candrakirti's arguments and the lively humor of the stories and examples he uses. Lang's introduction explores the range of Candrakirti's interests in religion, philosophy, psychology, politics, and erotic poetry.

The Experience of Modernity

Chinese Autobiography of the Early Twentieth Century

Janet Ng

The May Fourth Era (1917-40) began as a movement to make the classical literary language accessible to the common people and became a broader political movement against imperialism. The writing of autobiography was influenced by the idea of literature's social and political mission, yet at the same time autobiography was a uniquely potent venue for individual expression. Janet Ng examines this notion within the framework of autobiographical writings by Chen Hengzhe, Lu Xun, Hu Shi, Xie Bingying, Xiao Hong, Eileen Chang, Yu Dafu, and Shen Congwen.

Not Just Victims

*Conversations with Cambodian
Community Leaders in the United States*

Edited and with an Introduction by SUCHENG CHAN
Interviews Conducted by Audrey U. Kim

“Not Just Victims is of very high quality as a piece of scholarship. The review of the literature on Cambodia and Cambodian refugees is extraordinary. The book contains easily the single best synthesis of Cambodian history, migration and resettlement I have ever read.”

— Jeremy Hein, author of *From Vietnam, Laos, and Cambodia:
A Refugee Experience in the United States*

This volume features twelve oral histories based on conversations with Cambodian community leaders in eight American cities—Long Beach, Philadelphia, Washington, D.C., Seattle, Portland, Tacoma, and the Massachusetts towns of Fall River and Lowell. Unlike the dozens of autobiographies published by Cambodians that focus largely on their victimization, these narratives describe how Cambodian refugees have adapted to life in the United States.

The Roots of Ayurveda

Selected, Translated, and Introduced by Dominik Wujastyk, Associate Curator, The Wellcome Trust Centre for the History of Medicine at University College London

The writings selected for this volume are taken from the Sanskrit medical texts written by the first ayurvedic physicians, who lived between the fifth century B.C. and the fourteenth century A.D. They reveal the origins of a living medical system that has been practiced in India for more than two thousand years and whose principles are at the heart of many of the “alternative” therapies now used in the West.

Includes an author’s note on pronunciation, a general introduction to the history and practice of ayurveda, introductions to each section of texts, references, a vocabulary index of flora, fauna, and medical terms, an index, and illustrations.

“An irresistible peek . . . into the face of modern China.”

—USA Today

On June 4, 1989, one young man, looking both confused but terribly brave, faced the line of tanks rolling into Tiananmen Square—defying his government and standing for freedom. No one has ever been able to determine the identity or the fate of that young man. Now, in Sons of Heaven, Terrence Cheng has given him a voice.
