NEW TITLES FROM ARCHAEOPRESS

Mapping Doggerland: The Mesolithic Landscapes of the Southern North Sea edited by Vincent Gaffney, Kenneth Thomson and Simon Finch

ISBN 9781905739141. Paperback, £19.99

xii+131 pages; illustrated throughout in colour and black and white

12,000 years ago the area that now forms the southern North Sea was dry land: a vast plain populated by Mesolithic hunter-gatherers. By 5,500 BC the entire area had disappeared beneath the sea as a consequence of rising sea levels. Until now, this unique landscape remained hidden from view and almost entirely unknown. The North Sea Palaeolandscape Project, funded by the Aggregates Levy Sustainability Fund, have mapped 23,000 km² of this "lost world" using seismic data collected for mineral exploration. "Mapping Doggerland" demonstrates that the North Sea covers one of the largest and best preserved prehistoric landscapes in Europe. In mapping this exceptional landscape the project has begun to provide an insight into the historic impact of the last great phase of global warming experienced by modern man and to assess the significance of the massive loss of European land that occurred as a consequence of climate change.

Art as Metaphor: The Prehistoric Rock-Art of Britain edited by Aron Mazel, George Nash and Clive Waddington

ISBN 9781905739165. Paperback, £19.95

x+256 pages; illustrated throughout in colour

Enigmatic, esoteric and fascinating, the rock-art of the British Isles has for a long time been a well kept secret at home and abroad. However, dedicated work by rock-art researchers over the last few decades has seen the discovery of hundreds of new panels and the publication of several high quality regional surveys and numerous survey reports and academic articles, and the creation of a highly successful world-class website on Northumberland rock-art. British rock-art has arrived on the world stage.

Drawing on these exciting developments, this volume brings together a carefully selected collection of papers that cover British prehistoric rock-art from over 10,000 years ago. Some of the topics addressed include:

- recent discoveries of Palaeolithic cave art and probable Mesolithic inscriptions
- new perspectives on Neolithic-Early Bronze Age and Pictish rock-art
- regional studies on the rock-art of Cumbria, Northumberland, North Yorkshire and South West Britain
- relationships between rock-art and ritual and funerary monuments and between rock-art and landscape
- experiential approaches to understanding passage grave art within chambered tombs
- the history of British rock-art research

Rafter Radiocarbon dating services and Stable Isotope science

Our isotope analysis services can help you unlock the answers to archaeological, ecological and environmental history.

Whether you seek knowledge of "a moment in time" from radiocarbon dating, or "inside knowledge" of isotope processes, Rafter Radiocarbon and GNS Science can provide the answers.

We provide

- prompt 8 week reporting times and 3 week express services
- competitive prices – NZD $820
- $\delta^{13}\text{C}$ corrections at no extra charge
- enhanced precision measurements
- radiometric ^{14}C dating for large samples
- bone C and N analysis (%C, %N, $\delta^{13}\text{C}$, $\delta^{15}\text{N}$, C:N)
- direct dating of pollen
- x-ray diffraction for shells
- calibration assistance
- free consultancy services

NEW FROM THE GETTY

THE LANGUAGE OF THE MUSES THE DIALOGUE BETWEEN ROMAN AND GREEK SCULPTURE

Miranda Marvin

Contrary to the long-held thesis that Roman sculptures depicting ideal figures were copies of Greek originals, this book argues that Roman sculpture had its own unique style and ideals.

Notes for Contributors

Antiquity* aims to report new archaeological research, methods and issues of international significance in plain language to a broad academic and professional readership.

We ask prospective authors to consult previous issues of the journal and the full Notes for Contributors on our website at <http://antiquity.ac.uk/contnotes.html>.

Submissions for publication in the JOURNAL should be sent with a disc and hard copy to The Editor, Antiquity, King's Manor, York, YO1 7EP, UK, or by e-mail to editor@antiquity.ac.uk.

Text should be submitted in English in MS Word 2000 or a compatible program and have a maximum length of 5000 words. Please indicate the corresponding author. References should be in the Harvard format (Antiquity does not use footnotes or end-notes). For initial consideration, figures may be embedded in the Word file or submitted as low-resolution jpeg files, but please note our publication image requirements.

Papers submitted to the journal are peer-reviewed by two or more referees. The Editor aims to make a decision on whether the paper is to be accepted within four to six months of receipt.

Authors whose papers are declined are notified via e-mail by the editor, and we can normally pass on part or all of the referees' reports to assist feedback.

Authors whose papers are accepted may be asked to send an updated, revised text and will need to send figures of publication quality. These should be sent as hard copy photographs or drawings or as TIFF files at 600 dpi (colour or monochrome photographs) and EPS files at 1200 dpi (line drawings) on a CD-ROM or Zip disk. Colour images should be prepared in CMYK; RGB should not be used. Authors may be asked if we can mount long tables and other data on our website.

Authors will be asked to contribute towards the cost of publishing colour images. The charge is £100 per page with colour images.

Authors receive a free PDF of their paper, and may order offprints at a charge of £0.75 each (orders must be for 25 offprints or multiples thereof).

Submissions for publication in the PROJECT GALLERY on the website (<http://antiquity.ac.uk/ProjGall/>) should be e-mailed to editor@antiquity.ac.uk as attachments. Text should be in MS Word and have a maximum length of 1000 words. Figures (colour or monochrome, maximum of 6 pictures) should be jpeg files at 72 dpi. Submissions for the Project Gallery are not peer-reviewed but the Editor may request changes before a submission is accepted. Authors will be asked to check their page before it goes live online.

The Complete Pyramids

Mark Lehner

'A fine book, well illustrated, making intelligent use of computer graphics and entertaining in the midst of the densest detail' The Times Literary Supplement

Powerful symbols of remote antiquity, the pyramids have intrigued and entranced generations. In The Complete Pyramids, now out in paperback, Mark Lehner surveys the pyramids' history, building and use in unprecedented scope and detail, looking at both their practical aspects – the quarries, ramps and tools used in their construction – as well as the conceptual – their cosmology and iconography, and the intriguing Pyramid texts.
