NEW VOLUMES

Dionysius of Halicarnassus on Literary Composition.

Being the Greek Text of the "De Compositione Verborum." Edited, with Introduction, Translation, Notes, Glossary, and Appendices, by Professor W. RHYS ROBERTS, Litt.D., &c. 8vo. 10s. net.

The Athenæum.—"There is hardly a Greek scholar in England who has attained a more distinctive position than Prof. Rhys Roberts. He has made a peculiar province of Greek prose his own, and is giving to the world in regular succession able and thorough editions of the Hellenistic authors on style. . . . The present instalment is a tract of Dionysius . . . well worth reading and weighing, not only by the mere scholar, but also by all who desire to write good prose."

The Acharnians of Aristophanes. With Introduction, English

Prose Translation, Critical Notes, and Commentary. By W. J. M. STARKIE, M.A., Hon. Litt.D. Dublin, Editor of the "Vespæ." 8vo. 10s. net.

The Athenæum.—"The Editor has made a name for himself by publishing a full and scholarly edition of 'The Wasps,' and it may be said that the present work is the fullest commentary in English on any play of Aristophanes. The first Introduction is written with vigour, and is beautifully lucid. The third Introduction—'Aristotle on the Laughter of Comedy'—is equally vigorous, and contains a masterly analysis of the various forms of Aristophanic wit. . . . An invaluable Index Græcitalis concludes this handsome and fascinating volume."

MACMILLAN'S NEW & FORTHCOMING BOOKS

Greek Athletic Sports and Festivals. By E. NORMAN GARDINER, M.A. Illustrated. Extra crown 8vo, 10s. 6d. [Handbooks of Archaeology and Antiquities.] [Immediately.]

Accidents of an Antiquary's Life. By D. G. HOGARTH, Author of "A Wandering Scholar," etc. With 40 Illustrations from Photographs taken by the Author and his Companions. 8vo. 7s. 6d. net.

Times.—"In Mr. Hogarth's pages the Levant lives again in all its pageantry of colour and sound. His sentences are instinct with the shimmering heat and spacious horizons of the Anatolian plains, with the beauty and music of the breezy Aegean, with the rich discord of types and torgues of the cities, with the bustle and the scent of the bazaars."

ANTI ΜΙΑΣ, An Essay in Isometry. By R. J. WALKER. 2 vols. 8vo. 21s. net.

Oxford and Cambridge Review.—"The most striking essay of English scholarship that we have encountered for many years."

The Times.—"These two substantial volumes are certainly a monument of enthusiasm in the cause of classical scholarship. They are devoted to a point recondite indeed, but of no little interest to the special student of Greek metres. Mr. Walker's reading of lyrical Greek led him 'to doubt the validity of the correspondence, in strophic antistrophic composition, between one long and two shorts.' To solve the question he attacked the entire corpus of Greek lyric; and he here discusses at length every passage in which the problem presents itself—in Pindar, Bacchylides, and fragments of other poets, Æschylus, Sophocles, Euripides, Aristophanes."

Life in the Roman World of Nero and St. Paul.

Iambica. An English-Greek and Greek-English Vocabulary for Writers of Iambic Verse. By J. JACKSON, M.A., late Assistant Classical Master at St. Paul's School. Crown 8vo. 7s. 6d.

The Oxford Magazine.—"This book seems to us to fill a distinct gap, no existing dictionary being a safe guide to a tragic vocabulary. Mr. Jackson has done his work with much skill and judgment."

Physical Science in the Time of Nero. Being a Translation of the "Questiones Naturales" of Seneca. By JOHN CLARKE, M.A. With Notes on the Treatise by SIR ARCHIBALD GEIKIE, K.C.B., P.R.S. 8vo. 10s. net.

Educational News.—"The book is intensely interesting, and as a serious contribution to the study of one of the by-paths of classical literature and the state of knowledge of natural science in far-off times, it has peculiar claims on the serious student."

Select Letters of Seneca. Edited, with Introductions and Explanatory

Notes, by WALTER C. SUMMERS, M.A., late Fellow of St. John's College, Cambridge, Firth Professor of Latin in the University of Sheffield. Fcap. 8vo. 5s.
