Hitler and the Final Solution

by GERALD FLEMING

Introduction by SAUL FRIEDLÄNDER

"Interesting and substantial. . . Should finally lay to rest David Irving's provocative theory that Hitler neither ordered nor wished the destruction of the Jewish people. . . In a meticulous examination of the entire network of authority that set the extermination policy in motion, Fleming shows that [Irving is not right.]"
—New York Review of Books "A valuable work which puts the record straight and adds many interesting new details to a terrible but still compelling story."—Times Literary Supplement $15.95

The Economic Rise of the Habsburg Empire, 1750–1914

by DAVID F. GOOD

Despite its importance, little is known about the economic history of the Habsburg Empire. In this stimulating survey on economic development in the late stages of one of Europe's former great powers, Good provides overwhelming evidence that the Habsburg Empire's economy did not fail in its last one hundred years. $32.00

The Reconstruction of Western Europe, 1945–1951

by ALAN S. MILWARD

A comprehensive study of the economic and political reconstruction of western Europe since 1945 by one of the foremost historians on the subject. Milward offers strikingly new interpretations within a truly major work of scholarship. $38.50

New in paperback—

Robert Musil and the Crisis of European Culture, 1880–1942

by DAVID S. LUFT

"Based on a rich background of secondary and primary sources. . . . In substance it is not only serious and competent but also a highly impressive product of intellectual effort and scholarship that does great credit to the author."—American Historical Review "As Luft traces Musil's intellectual and artistic development, he also deftly captures Germany's history between 1880 and 1942."
—Library Journal $8.95

The Alternative CultureSocialist Labor in Imperial Germany

VERNON L. LIDTKE, The Johns Hopkins University. "This is a splendid book: a landmark study of the cultural components of social-political history. . . . Through Lidtke's punctilious research and thoughtful analysis the German labor movement before World War I takes on depth and color and we begin to comprehend why its adherents were to become, in the next generation, consistent and almost instinctive opponents of Nazism."—William Sheridan Allen, State University of New York, Buffalo
January 1985 320 pp.; 12 illus. $29.95

The Peculiarities of German HistoryBourgeois Society and Politics in Nineteenth-Century Germany

DAVID BLACKBOURN, Birkbeck College, University of London, and GEOFFREY ELEY, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor. This major reappraisal of the cultural, political, and sociological assumptions that have been held to account for the "peculiar" course of modern German history sheds new light on context in which we view the tensions and instability characteristic of German society and politics in the modern era.

Winner of the Wolfson Literary Award for History

The Making of the Habsburg Monarchy 1550—1700

R.J.W. EVANS, Brasenose College, Oxford. "Remarkable. . . . Its prose is straightforward, witty and sometimes ironic, and its views are new and grandiose. . . . Will be of lasting influence on future scholarship. . . . [A] great interpretative achievement."—Journal of Modern History
1984 (paper) 560 pp. cloth $36.95 paper $16.95

Rudolf II and His WorldA Study in Intellectual History, 1576—1612

R.J.W. EVANS. "A remarkable book, full of information of a kind accessible nowhere else. . . . A major work, another milestone on the road to a new approach to the history of thought."—New Statesman
1984 336 pp.; illus. paper $18.95
