TDR

The Drama Review

the journal of performance studies

Richard Schechner, Editor
Mariellen R. Sandford, Associate Editor

TDR covers performance in all its aspects—performing arts, performance in everyday life, politics and performance, rituals—and more. TDR is intercultural and interdisciplinary. Articles range from the highly theoretical to the descriptive. Occasionally, scripts or portions of scripts are published.

Each TDR features editorials, letters, theoretical analysis, historical research, interviews, scripts, and essay-length book reviews. TDR appears both in print and online at <http://mitpress.mit.edu/tdr> as well as through Project Muse.

Guide for Contributors

Articles: Manuscripts should be submitted to the DRJ Editor. DRJ is a refereed journal, using a blind review process. Article manuscripts must be accompanied by written assurance that they have not been published, submitted, or accepted for publication elsewhere. They will not be returned unless accompanied by return postage.

Manuscripts should contribute original material. They may be discussions of contemporary or historical dance, theory and methods, critical syntheses, or evaluations of the state of knowledge or methods in the different disciplines involved in dance research. The Editor and at least two outside readers evaluate articles. Every attempt is made to notify authors regarding acceptance within three months. The Editor reserves the right to reject or return for revision any material on the grounds of inappropriate subject matter, quality, or length.

Authors must prepare manuscripts for blind review by putting their name on a separate title page only, and by submitting three clear copies of the manuscript. The entire manuscript, including notes, bibliography, and indented long quotations, should be double-spaced. Notes and bibliographies should follow the Chicago Manual of Style, 14th ed. (author-date citation system). Illustrative materials, such as tables, maps, and graphic notation, should be done in black ink and should be camera-ready copy. Photographs should have a glossy finish. Illustrative materials may also be submitted in digital form: 300 dpi, JPG files. Authors must obtain permission to publish illustrative materials if by individuals other than themselves. All manuscripts must be accompanied by an abstract of 50–100 words and biographical information of four–six lines that includes current evidence of expertise in the topic of the article.

Reviews: Book and media reviews are assigned by the Reviews Editor, but individuals wishing to review a particular book may submit an inquiry to the Reviews Editor. Reviews in the current issue are the best guide to correct format. The heading should include name of author(s) or editor(s), book title (italicized), place of publication, name of publisher, year of publication, number of pages, cloth or paperbound, and price. Reviews should be scholarly in orientation, and approximately 1200–1500 words in length. A parallel format should be used for film and other material.

Criticism and Reports: Individuals wishing to submit performance criticism or report on an archive or project are encouraged to submit an inquiry. DRJ prints performance criticism, especially commentary enlivened through theoretical or historical analysis and presented in an innovative format. Reports should include what, where, when, who, and how, and should specify the relevance of the activity to dance research. Related literature should be cited, if relevant.

Final Manuscript Approval: Authors of articles will be consulted before finalization of editorial decisions. Page proofs will be sent during the printing process and should be examined by authors and returned within the specified time.

Copyright: DRJ publishes previously unpublished original research. CORD copyrights each issue of the journal as a collective work; individual authors retain rights to their individual works. Authors of individual works published in CORD have the right to republish their own work in whole or in part, and in identical or modified form. As the original publisher, CORD requests a letter to the Chair of the CORD Editorial Board notifying of any republication. All republications, in whatever form, must be credited with one of the following statements:

This article was originally published in Dance Research Journal, Vol. (number), No. (number), and (date).

An earlier version of this article appeared in Dance Research Journal, Vol. (number), No. (number), and (date).

Complimentary Copies: Contributors of major articles will receive three complimentary copies of the issue in which their article was published; authors of reviews and reports will receive two complimentary copies.

Dance Research Journal is indexed in and abstracts are available through the following databases: Academic Search Elite, Academic Search Premier, Dance Collection Catalog of The New York Public Library, Expanded Academic Index, Humanities Index, Index to Dance Periodicals, International Index to Performing Arts, and Proquest. Complete articles are available on the Web through UMI. Past issues (through 2000) are indexed in the CD-ROM, Dance: Current Awareness Bulletin. Back issues of DRJ are available on Jstor.

The Congress on Research in Dance (CORD) is an interdisciplinary organization with an open, international membership. Its purposes are 1) to encourage research in all aspects of dance, including its related fields; 2) to foster the exchange of ideas, resources, and methodologies through publications, international and regional conferences, and workshops; 3) to promote the accessibility of research materials.

CORD is a non-profit, tax-exempt organization. Copies of the CORD financial and operating report, filed with the state of New York, are available upon written request from the New York State Board of Social Welfare, Charities Registration Section, Office Tower, Empire State Plaza, Albany, NY 12242, U.S.A.

Members of CORD have voting privileges, reduced rates at conferences, and special discounts on publications, and receive two journals and two newsletters each membership year, which extends from January 1 to December 31. Members whose dues are received in the CORD office after March 15 will receive current publications unless no stock remains, in which case they will receive another recent issue. Publication print runs are based on current membership figures and include a limited number of over-runs projected to accommodate members who join after March 15. To ensure receipt of publications, members are responsible for notifying the CORD office of address changes in a timely manner. Membership fees are given below in U.S. dollars, and may be paid by check or credit card. See <http://www.cordance.org> for current information.
