

changes in the powers of the Executive Committee and the Council to render more effective the conduct of the affairs of the Institute.

Under the leadership of Dean Donald C. Stone of Pittsburgh, some 48 persons responsible for training administrators in more than 30 national institutions met for the first time to set the stage for continued collaboration and exchanges on common problems.

The Congress of 1962—an open meeting to which all interested persons are invited—will be held probably in the second half of July, at a place in Europe to be announced.

The 19th Annual Institute on World Affairs, under the direction of Professor Minos Generales, was held August 7–25, 1961 at San Diego State College. With the theme being “Coexistence,” the Institute’s academic speakers included: Ross Berkes, U.S.C.; Eugene Burdick, U.C.; Arthur S. Flemming, Oregon; Constantine Generales, New York Medical College; L. F. E. Goldie, U.C.; Paul Hadley, U.S.C.; John Hutchinson, Claremont Graduate School; Amos Jordan, U.S.M.A.; Karlin & Capper-Johnson, Lewis and Clark; James Kitchen, S.D.S.C.; Joseph Lauwerys, London; Deane Malott, Cornell; Charles Martin, Washington; Hans Morgenthau, Chicago; Fred Neal, Claremont Graduate School; Peter Rohn, Claremont Men’s College; Robert Scalapino, U.C.; Charles Schleicher, Oregon; Edward Stainbrook, U.S.C.; Julian Towster, U.C.; Urban Whitaker, S.F.S.C.

Other speakers included: Brutus Coste, Assembly of Captive Nations; Kenneth Dadzie, Ghana; John Denson, United Kingdom; Avraham Harman, Israel; Roger Hilsman, State Department; John McNaughton, Defense Department; Frank McCulloch, Los Angeles Times, Myron Rush, RAND.

The fifth annual meeting of the Missouri Political Science Association was held at the University of Missouri, Columbia, on October 13, 1961. Sessions were devoted to politics in council-manager cities, the politics of public education, and ethics in government. George A. Bell, assistant state budget director, was elected president of the association for 1962. The association now comprises 140 members.

A Mid-America Assembly on the topic “The Secretary of State” was held at the University of Missouri on November 16–19, 1961, under the co-sponsorship of that university and the American Assembly. Sixty persons prominent in business, government, and professional circles were in attendance. Principal addresses were delivered by Harlan Cleveland of the Department of State and Norman A. Graebner of the University of Illinois.

A section on War and Peace Studies will be included in the 1962 annual meetings of the American Sociological Association to take place in Washington, D.C., at the end of August. Persons interested in submitting papers should contact the Chairman of the session, Professor Amitai Etzioni, at Columbia University.

OTHER ACTIVITIES

The University of Michigan has received a grant of approximately $3,000,000 from the Ford Foundation to be spent over the next ten years in area and international studies. The terms of the grant provide for a total of $1,800,000 for the Chinese, Japanese and Middle Eastern Centers for the ten year period. $500,000 of the grant is to be divided over the next five years by the Russian Studies and Southern Asian Centers for the development of research and graduate instructional programs. The remaining $700,000 is to be spent over the next five years chiefly by the Law School, Business School, Center for Economic Development, and Center for Conflict Resolution in research and graduate instruction in international studies.

Under State Department contract, Indiana University is playing host to a group of chairmen of Indian political science departments during 1962—February, March and April. Following study, observation, and discussions at Indiana University, each visitor will spend some time on several other campuses. While in Bloomington, the Indian political scientists will also present a public lecture series and assist in an Indian Government and Politics course conducted by Richard F. Crabbs who is coordinating the special program. The Indian visitors are: Narayan R. Deshpande, Nagpur University; Avadh Behari Lal, Allahabad University; Indra D. Sharma, Punjab University; Abdulkarim H. Somjee, University of Baroda; Hari Shanker Srivastava, Gorakhpur University; Kopparti V. Rao, Utkal University; V. Venkata Rao, Gauhati University.

The Mershon National Security Center at Ohio State University awarded the 1961 prize of $2,500 for the best book-length manuscript on national security submitted in 1961 to George Stambuk, department of government, Indiana University.

Arthur H. Dean, President of the American Society of International Law, announced that the Society has received a grant of $500,000 from the Ford Foundation, and will now undertake long-term studies on the legal aspects of arms control and disarmament, foreign investment and economic development, space activities, and federalism in the emerging nations.

Ambassador Dean is the Chairman of the U.S. delegation at the nuclear test ban conference in Geneva and a member of the U.S. delegation to the United Nations for the current session of the General Assembly. He is senior partner of the New York law firm of Sullivan and Cromwell.

The Ford Foundation grant will be used to expand the activities of the 55-year-old Society, known for its annual meetings and its American Journal of International Law, which goes to 5000 members and subscribers in 91 countries around the world.

Charles S. Ascher of Brooklyn College has been elected president of the conference of non-governmental organizations with consultative status at the U.N. He chaired a meeting of its bureau in Geneva in August, 1961.

George M. Belknap has accepted appointment as visiting associate professor of government at Dartmouth College.

Paul C. Bartholomew, professor of political science at the University of Notre Dame, served during the past summer as a consultant to the Republican National Committee at its headquarters in Washington, D. C. in the current reorganization under the new chairman, Representative William E. Miller of New York.

Martin Birnbach, formerly of the University of Puerto Rico, has been appointed visiting instructor at the University of Nebraska.

Herbert W. Briggs, Goldwin Smith Professor of International Law at Cornell University and Editor-in-Chief of the American Journal of International Law, was recently elected by the United Nations to be a member of the U.N. International Law Commission.

Zbigniew Brzezinski of Columbia participated in the Wilton Park Conference held in November in England. This year the subject of the conference was "The Western Alliance and 'Competitive Co-existence'."

Frederic N. Cleaveland, chairman of the department of political science, University of North Carolina, participated in a conference in Santiago, Chile, from September 24 through October 7, 1961. The conference was jointly sponsored by the Inter-American Development Bank and the Latin American faculty of the social sciences (FLACSO). Professor Cleaveland served as a consultant for the public administration program.

Walter C. Clemens, who received his Ph.D. from Columbia University (Russian Institute) has been appointed acting assistant professor at University of California, Santa Barbara, for 1961-1962.

Percy E. Corbett, professor of foreign affairs at the University of Virginia gave the address at the Founder's Day Convocation at McGill University on October 6. McGill University conferred the honorary degree of D.C.L. on Professor Corbett on the same occasion.

Martin David Dubin, assistant professor of political science, has been awarded a 1961-1962 Roosevelt University faculty fellowship with leave to do research in Great Britain, the Netherlands and Switzerland, on the theory and history of international organization.

The University of Idaho's Borah Foundation Lecturer during the first semester of 1961-1962 was Francisco Garcia-Amador, former Cuban Ambassador and presently a consultant for the Pan American Union. The theme of this series of lectures was "Democratic Counteroffensive in Latin America."

Ralph M. Goldman of Michigan State University is visiting professor of political science at the University of Chicago for the academic year 1961-1962.

Franz B. Gross of Pennsylvania Military College is serving as a visiting associate professor at the University of Pennsylvania in the political science department.

George Y. Harvey of the University of Missouri has been appointed, by Secretary Ribicoff, chairman of a second citizens advisory committee to study the Food and Drug Administration and make recommendations to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and to the Administration.

Russell H. Fifield of the University of Michigan has been appointed secretary of the association for Asian studies and a member of its executive committee.

John N. Hazard, professor of public law and government at Columbia University, has been spending 1961-62 at the Center for Advanced Study in the Behavioral Sciences, and will serve as visiting professor of political science at the University of California, Berkeley, during the spring semester, 1962.

Robert J. Horgan, chairman of the political science department at Clarke College in Dubuque, Iowa, was elected November 8 to the Dubuque City Council, for a term of four years.

Will Irwin, Colorado State University, is associate director for the Citizenship Clearing House, 1961-62.

Stephen P. Koff, assistant professor of political science at the Maxwell Graduate School of Citizenship and Public Affairs, Syracuse University, has been granted a two-year leave of absence in order to become resident administrator of the Syracuse semester in Italy program.

Fred Krinsky, associate professor at the Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs, Syracuse University, is a visiting associate professor in political science at the University of Southern California for the academic year 1961-62. Mr. Krinsky replaces Professor Carlton C. Rodee, who is on sabbatical leave.

Leslie Lipson, professor of political science at the University of California at Berkeley, is serving as acting executive secretary of the institute of international studies of the University, during 1961-62.

Vernon McKay, professor of African studies at the Johns Hopkins School of Advanced International Studies in Washington, D. C., was elected president of the African Studies Association at the annual meeting held in New York City, October 20-22. He also served as conference chairman for the Eighth National Conference of the United States National Commission for UNESCO in Boston, October 22-26. This conference, attended by 2000 U.S. and African delegates, dealt with the theme, "Africa and the United States—Images and Realities." While in Boston, Dr. McKay was elected a member of the executive committee of the United States National Commission for UNESCO.

Roy Macridis, professor of political science at Washington University is on leave during 1961-62 studying the Fifth Republic in France under a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation.

Laurence Martin has been appointed as visiting associate professor in European Diplomacy at the school of advanced international studies of Johns Hopkins University, located in Washington, D. C. Dr. Martin has also been appointed a research associate at the Washington Center of Foreign Policy Research, which is affiliated with the School of Advanced International Studies.

Robert Moses of New York City presented the second annual lecture in The Herman G. James Lectures on Municipal Government at Ohio University on November 9, 1961. This lectureship was established a year ago in honor of Dr. James, a former president of Ohio University.

Morris S. Ogul, assistant professor of political science, has been appointed senior research associate at the administrative science center at the University of Pittsburgh, for the 1961-1962 academic year.

Robert C. Osgood has been appointed as visiting professor of American Diplomacy and research associate of the Washington Center of foreign policy research at the School of Advanced International Studies of Johns Hopkins University, located in Washington, D. C. He is on leave from the University of Chicago where he is professor of political science and research associate of the Center for the study of American foreign policy.

Joseph A. Peters, assistant professor of government and history, of Beaver College is serving as lecturer at the University of Pennsylvania in the political science department.

Robert J. Pitchell, acting director of the Bureau of government research at Indiana University has been named editor of the Indiana Municipal Manual; the first annual edition is scheduled for publication in March of 1962.

Vasant D. Rao of the University of Bombay is visiting lecturer in political science and history, San Diego State College.

S. Grover Rich, professor of political science and director of the Institute of International Studies, University of Utah, is on leave during the academic year 1961-62 while serving as professor of foreign affairs on the faculty of the National War College in Washington, D. C.

Carlton C. Rodee of the University of Southern California, is on sabbatical leave for the academic year of 1961-62.

E. E. Schattschneider, emeritus professor of government at Wesleyan University, is teaching during the 1961-62 academic year in Wesleyan's experimental college of social studies.

Charles P. Schleicher, professor of political science at the University of Oregon is acting department head for the current year during the absence of E. S. Wengert, who is on leave, concluding a study of the Agency of International Development for the Inter-University Case Program.

Paul Seabury, associate professor of political science at the University of California, Berkeley, is on sabbatical leave during the fall of 1961, and holds a Guggenheim Fellowship during spring, 1962.

Glenn Tinder of the University of Massachusetts will spend the year 1961-62 on sabbatical.

Frank N. Trager, professor of international affairs, New York University, is serving as a visiting professor of political science at the National War College, Washington, D. C. during 1961-62. He will also, for the third year in succession, be in charge of the course on southeast Asia at the Army War College, Carlisle Barracks, Pennsylvania.

Robert C. Tucker has been appointed as visiting professor of Soviet affairs at the school of advanced international studies of Johns Hopkins University. Dr. Tucker has also been appointed a research associate at the Washington Center of Foreign Policy Research, which is affiliated with the school of advanced international studies in Washington. He is on leave from the University of Indiana where he is professor of government.

Maurice Waters has received a two year appointment as visiting assistant professor at Antioch College.

York Willbern, director of the bureau of government research at Indiana University, is engaged in a special research project for the year 1961-62 with a grant from the Social Science Research Council. Robert J. Pitchell, associate director of the Bureau, is serving as acting director.

Sheldon Wolin, associate professor of political science at the University of California, Berkeley, is on leave for the year 1961-62.

APPOINTMENTS AND STAFF CHANGES

Stanley V. Anderson, who received both a law degree and his Ph.D. from the University of California, Berkeley, has been appointed assistant professor of political science at the University of California, Santa Barbara.

Paul M. Bernstein has been appointed instructor in the political science department, University of Pennsylvania.

Thompson Black, formerly head of the department of government, has been promoted to chairman of the social sciences division at Los Angeles State College.

Donald Bray upon completion of his Ph.D. at Stanford, has accepted an appointment as assistant professor at Los Angeles State College.

H. Carl Camp has been appointed as assistant professor at Tulane.

William G. Carleton has been appointed professor emeritus of political science at the University of Florida to enable him to devote full time to a program of research, writing and lecturing.

Daniel S. Cheever has been appointed associate professor in the department of political science and in the graduate school of public and international affairs at the University of Pittsburgh.

Milton Colvin, formerly of Vanderbilt University and the University of Chicago, has accepted an appointment as associate professor of political science at Washington and Lee University.

Frank Dinka has been appointed as associate professor at Southwest Missouri State College, Springfield, Missouri.

Clair Doubrovsky has become a member of the department of political science at Mount Holyoke.

George S. Duggar has been named associate professor of Municipal-Metropolitan Affairs at the University of Pittsburgh.

Eugene P. Dvorin has been promoted to associate professor and appointed head of the government department at Los Angeles State College.