

THE EDITOR'S CORNER

We take this occasion to wish Elizabeth Norville, who for two years has discharged the duties of Business Manager for the Business History Review, Godspeed as she leaves to pursue postgraduate study in political science at the University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign; and to greet Rosemary V. Gray, who has assumed her duties.

Helen Frey Rochlin, whose name first appeared on the Review's mast-head as Associate Editor in the Autumn 1974 issue, lays down her duties with the appearance of this issue. She now becomes a free-lance editor, and we wish her great success.

The Harvard University Graduate School of Business Administration and The Newcomen Society in North America announce a postdoctoral fellowship in business history in the amount of $21,000 for twelve-months' residence, study, and research at the Harvard Business School, July 1982–August 1983. The Newcomen Fellowship in Business History represents $9000 of this award, and the remainder of the Fellowship and its associated expenses will be covered by a grant from the Harvard Business School. The Fellow may begin the twelve-months' residence on either July 1 or September 1, 1982.

The purpose of this award is to assist scholars who have, within the past ten years, received their Ph.D. in history, economics, or a related discipline to improve their professional acquaintance with business and economic history, increase their skills as they relate to this field, and to engage in research that will benefit from the resources of the Harvard Business School and the Boston scholarly community. The successful applicant will be asked to participate in the School's Business History course and seminar and to attend at least one other formal course of instruction based on his or her particular needs or interests.

Applicants should state their purpose in applying for the Fellowship, the specific area in which they would like to do course work, and the topic, objectives, and design for the research to be undertaken. Applications should be accompanied by graduate school records, thesis abstract, names and addresses of three persons who will support the application, and such other evidence as the applicant wishes to submit.

Applications for the Postdoctoral Fellowship in Business History must be submitted before March 1, 1982, addressed to Professor Alfred D. Chandler, Jr., Baker 214, Harvard Business School, Soldiers Field, Boston, Massachusetts, 02163. The Fellowship will be awarded and all applicants notified by March 15, 1982. Material submitted with applications will be returned only if accompanied by postage and self-addressed return envelope.

Harvard University is an equal employment opportunity, affirmative action employer.

The Lincoln Educational Foundation will award three John E. Rovensky pre-doctoral fellowships in American economic and business history, in the amount of $3000 each, for the academic year, 1982–1983. Applicants must be citizens of the United States or Canada and planning to acquire a Ph.D. degree with either American economic history or American business history as the area of major interest. Those who have demonstrated capacity to pursue graduate work successfully for one year will have an advantage over those who are just beginning graduate study. Study is normally to be done at an approved institution in the United States, and preference will be given to applicants who are preparing for careers in teaching and research. Applications must be submitted not later than February 1, 1982, to C. Clyde Jones, College of Business Administration, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66502.
