Asian Ethnicity

NEW
IN 2000

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Professor Colin Mackerras
Griffith University, Australia

Supported by an Editorial Advisory Board

Asian Ethnicity will provide a cross-disciplinary, international venue for the publication of well-researched articles about ethnic groups and ethnic relations in the half of the world where questions of ethnicity loom largest.

The journal will cover any time period, although the greatest focus is expected to be on the twentieth and twenty-first centuries. The geographical region of concern is bounded by Lake Baikal to the north, Japan to the east, Java to the south and the Aral Sea to the west. The most populous, and probably most significant, contemporary political states to be included will be China, India and Indonesia.

Particular topics for discussion include: ethnic gender studies; ethnic identities; minorities; anthropological studies; religion; international relations.

Asian Ethnicity welcomes articles from the following disciplines: ethnology; anthropology; political science; history; economics; human and economic geography; demography; language; literature; the arts; religious studies and international relations.

Ethnic and Racial Studies

EDITOR

Martin Bulmer, University of Surrey, UK

ASSOCIATE EDITORS

Christopher T. Husbands, London School of Economics and Political Science, UK

John Solomos, South Bank University, UK

MANAGING EDITOR

Guida Crowley, University of Surrey, UK

Supported by an International Editorial Board

Race, ethnicity and nationalism are at the heart of many of the major social and political issues in the present global environment. New antagonisms have emerged which require a rethinking of traditional theoretical and empirical perspectives. Ethnic and Racial Studies, published bi-monthly is the leading journal for the analysis of these issues throughout the world. The journal provides an interdisciplinary academic forum for the presentation of research and theoretical analysis, drawing on sociology, social policy, anthropology, political science, economics, geography, international relations, history, social psychology and cultural studies.

The journal welcomes contributions from both established and younger scholars working in any of its main areas of interest. Each issue carries reviews of the latest books on race, ethnicity and nationalism. Regular special issues provide innovative perspectives on questions of current importance.

Journal of Ethnic and Migration Studies

EDITOR

Malcolm Cross, Centre for European Migration and Ethnic Studies - CEMES

ASSOCIATE EDITORS

Stephen Castles, University of Wollongong, Australia

Roger Waldinger, University of California at Los Angeles, USA

EDITORIAL MANAGER

Jette Johst

Supported by an International Editorial Board

The Journal of Ethnic and Migration Studies (JEMS) is the leading journal in its field with an emphasis on advanced industrial societies. Originally published under its old title New Community since 1971, the journal specialises in research-based articles on all forms of migration and its consequences, together with articles on ethnic conflict, discrimination, nationalism, citizenship and policies of integration.

Contributions to the journal, which are fully refereed by independent scientific specialists, are especially welcome when they report on comparative research. Contributions are invited from any branch of the social sciences, and the results of inter-disciplinary research are of particular interest. JEMS publishes special issues on a regular basis and the editor is always pleased to receive proposals for collections of articles on a relevant theme.

JEMS has a long-standing interest in policy debates and in the evaluation of policy initiatives. Its coverage includes reports on policy initiatives. The book review section aims to cover the most important titles, and sections on 'Research Notes' and 'Debates' are included on a regular basis.

Central Asian Survey

EDITOR

Marie Bennigsen Broxup

Supported by an International Editorial Board

Central Asian Survey is the only established refereed journal in the world concerned primarily with the history, politics, cultures, religions and economics of the Central Asian and Caucasian regions. These include those territories and predominantly Muslim Irano-Turkic populations from western China to western Anatolia sharing a common historical, ethnic, cultural and linguistic heritage and in some cases communist experience. Foremost among these are the republics of former Soviet Central Asia, Azerbaijan, Crimea, and the Muslim Ibero-Caucasian and Turkic peoples of the North Caucasus, Middle Volga and Urals whose territories are included in the Russian Federation. Covered as well are Chinese Xinjiang, Afghanistan, Iran, Turkey, Armenia and Georgia.

The recent unfolding of political, demographic, economic and military events which have precipitated new strategic linkages, raise the spectre of important local and regional change and make Central Asia and the Caucasus an area of significant contemporary interest. The journal includes a section on Mongolia and adjacent regions. There are deep historical connections between Mongolia and Central Asia and Mongolia's experience of analogous economic and political changes are relevant to readers of Central Asian Survey.

NATIONALITIES PAPERS is the only journal in the world which deals exclusively with all nationalities of the former USSR, and also with national minorities in Eastern and Central European countries. The problems and importance of over 140 million people are treated with the disciplinary and methodological contexts of Post-Soviet and Europe-Asia studies. Of central concern is the fate of the Balts, Ukrainians, Jews and the peoples of Central Asia and the Caucasus. Nationalities Papers is an international and multidisciplinary journal with contributors and readers throughout North America, Western and Eastern Europe, the Far East, Japan and the People's Republic of China. Included in each general issue are in-depth analyses from the historical view, updates on latest developments, some original documents, and book reviews; some issues concentrate on a region or nationality as a special topic, which exclusive focus allows for more extensive and detailed information.

Submission of manuscripts. Authors should send the final, revised version of their articles in both hard copy paper and electronic disk forms. It is essential that the hard copy (paper) version exactly matches the material on disk. Please print out the hard copy from the disk you are sending. Submit three printed copies of the final version with the disk to Dr Nancy M. Wingfield, Nationalities Papers, Department of History, Northern Illinois University, DeKalb, IL 60115, USA. Save all files on a standard 3.5 inch high-density disk. We prefer to receive disks in Microsoft Word in a Mac format, but can translate from most other common word-processing programs. Please specify which program you have used. Do not save your files as "text only" or "read only". For further details on Electronic Submission, please visit the Taylor & Francis Website at: <http://www.tandf.co.uk/journals>
