This text book is the first to bring clear guidelines of logical theory to bear on the field of informal fallacies, and to integrate this field with basic elements of formal logic. It stands apart from the usual texts on informal logic by its attempt to attain a greater depth of analysis of the fallacies.

PHILOSOPHY OF THE SOCIAL SCIENCES is an international quarterly which publishes articles, discussions, symposia, literature surveys, translations, and review symposia of interest both to philosophers concerned with the social sciences and to social scientists concerned with the philosophical foundations of their subject. PHILOSOPHY OF THE SOCIAL SCIENCES intends its focus of interest to be those issues normally considered central to the philosophy of the social sciences, that is to say, issues in general methodology (understood as metascience rather than research techniques), and the application of philosophy to the social sciences—but not excluding papers with substantial empirical content that constitute contributions to the field. No school, party, or style of philosophy of the social sciences is favoured. Debate between schools is encouraged.

Revue Canadienne de Comptes rendus en Philosophie

Editor:

Roger A. Shiner
University of Alberta

Editeur associé:

J.N. Kaufmann
Université du Québec à Trois-Rivières

A book-review journal for publications in academic philosophy and for theoretical work in other fields of interest to philosophers.

Academics in the humanities and social sciences routinely complain that there is no rapid dissemination of informed and informative opinion concerning publications in their fields. This is doubly unfortunate when more books than ever before are being published. Philosophers in particular need to be informed not only of work that is strictly philosophical but also of work which is primarily theoretical in nature in such areas as law, psychology, sociology, literary criticism, physics, medicine, linguistics and classical studies. C.P.R. / R.C.C.P. is the first journal based in North America to aim systematically to meet that need.

Une revue spécialisée de comptes rendus dans le domaine de la philosophie et de matières théoriques connexes qui ont un intérêt philosophique.

C.P.R. / R.C.C.P. veut répondre à un besoin pressant qu'éprouvent les universitaires qui travaillent dans le domaine de la philosophie et de sciences humaines en général: être informés rapidement et par une autorité compétente au sujet des publications récentes dans leurs spécialités. Ce besoin est d'autant plus urgent qu'un nombre constamment croissant de titres apparaissent sur le marché. Les philosophes en particulier se doivent d'être informés, non seulement des ouvrages proprement philosophiques, mais également des travaux de nature théorique qui s'effectuent dans des disciplines connexes comme la psychologie, la sociologie, la linguistique, la critique littéraire, la médecine, le droit . . . C.P.R. / R.C.C.P. est la première revue en Amérique du Nord qui a pour propos de combler systématiquement ce besoin.
