CONTRIBUTORS

Adolfo Polo y La Borda is an Assistant Professor at the Universidad de los Andes in Bogotá. His focus of research is the political culture of the early modern Spanish Empire. He received his PhD in history from the University of Maryland, College Park. At present, he is working on his first book manuscript, “Global Servants of the King. Cosmopolitanism and Mobility in the Early Modern Spanish Empire.”

Lisa M. Edwards is an Associate Professor of History at the University of Massachusetts Lowell. She is the author of Roman Virtues: The Education of Latin American Clergy in Rome, 1858–1962 and several book chapters exploring the intersections of the institutional Catholic Church and political and intellectual life in Latin America in general and in Chile in particular. She is working on a book on the Chilean Conservative Party in the nineteenth century.

Kif Augustine-Adams is Ivan Meitus Chair and Professor of Law at the J. Reuben Clark Law School, Brigham Young University. Her scholarship focuses on intersections among citizenship, gender, and race in the Americas, including the articles “Making Mexico: Legal Nationality, Chinese Race, and the 1930 Population Census” (2009) and “Marriage and Mestizaje, Chinese and Mexican: Constitutional Interpretation and Resistance in Sonora, 1925–1935” (2011). At the invitation of the Supreme Court of Mexico, she contributed “Por un solo voto: Quang Fat y amparo por personas de origen chino ante la Suprema Corte de Justicia de la Nación, 1917–1932” (2017) to a volume commemorating the centennial of the 1917 Constitution.

Sara Kozameh is a doctoral candidate at New York University. Her dissertation is titled Harvest of Revolution: Agrarian Reform and the Making of Revolutionary Cuba, 1958–1970.

Franklin W. Knight is Leonard and Helen R. Stulman Professor Emeritus and Academy Professor at the Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore. He has published widely on the social, cultural, economic, and political dimensions of Latin America and the Caribbean as well as slave systems in a global perspective. He served as president of the Latin American Studies Association between 1998 and 2000 and as president of the Historical Society, USA, from 2006 to 2008.

He has been honored by the Academy of Letters of Bahia, Brazil (2001); the Dominican Academy of History in the Dominican Republic (2006); the University of the West Indies (2007); the National Research Council of the National Academies (2008); the Asociación de Historiadores de América Latina y del Caribe (ADHILAC) (2011); the Cuban Academy of History (2012); the Asociación de la Historia Económica del Caribe (AHEC), as well as the Institute of Jamaica (2013), and the Fundación Fernando Ortiz (2016).

Kris Lane holds the France V. Scholes Chair in Colonial Latin American History at Tulane University in New Orleans. He is author of Potosí: The Silver City That Changed the World (2019), Pillaging the Empire: Global Piracy on the High Seas, 1500–1750, Colour of Paradise: The Emerald in the Age of Gunpowder Empires (2010), and Quito 1599: City & Colony in Transition (2002). Lane is currently working on a global history of the great Potosí mint fraud of 1649.
