

Corrigendum

Pregestational BMI and higher offspring's risk of overweight/obesity in smoker and non-smoker mothers – CORRIGENDUM

Nerea Martín-Calvo, Susana Santiago Neri, Gloria Segura, Cesar I Fernandez-Lazaro, María Barbería-Latasa and Miguel-Ángel Martínez-González

doi:10.1017/S1368980020005194, Published online by Cambridge University Press, 18 December 2020

The authors regret the inclusion of an error in the above article. The affiliation of Miguel-Ángel Martínez-González was originally given as Harvard School of Public Health.

The correct affiliation for Miguel-Ángel Martínez-González is the University of Navarra, Carlos III Health Institute and Institute of Health Research of Navarra.

The article has been corrected.

Reference

Martín-Calvo, N., Santiago Neri, S., Segura, G., Fernandez-Lazaro, C., Barbería-Latasa, M., & Martínez-González, M. (2021). Pregestational BMI and higher offspring's risk of overweight/obesity in smoker and non-smoker mothers. Public Health Nutrition, 24(13), 4204–4211. doi: 10.1017/S1368980020005194