To Be Like Gods Dance in Ancient Maya Civilization

By Matthew G. Looper

"This is a superb book. It provides a series of compelling methodological models for analyzing a vital but overlooked component of Maya society. . . . It is amazing that a book on dance can provide such insights into the social, political, and spiritual dimensions of the ancient Maya."

—Carolyn E. Tate, Professor of Art History, Texas Tech University

"This book is a major contribution to the field of Maya studies and [also to] Mesoamerican studies in general. . . . It places dance within the wider arena of ritual and its relationship to political power and the exercise of authority, an approach that is exciting and productive for scholars and students working in a variety of disciplines."

—Julia Guernsey, Associate Professor of Art History, University of Texas at Austin

The Congress on Research in Dance (CORD) is an interdisciplinary organization with an open, international membership. Its purposes are 1) to encourage research in all aspects of dance, including its related fields; 2) to foster the exchange of ideas, resources, and methodologies through publications, international and regional conferences, and workshops; 3) to promote the accessibility of research materials.

CORD is a nonprofit, tax-exempt organization. Copies of the CORD financial and operating report, filed with the state of New York, are available upon written request from the New York State Board of Social Welfare, Charities Registration Section, Office Tower, Empire State Plaza, Albany, NY 12242. Members of CORD have voting privileges, reduced rates at conferences, and special discounts on publications, and receive two journals and two newsletters each membership year, which extends from January 1 to December 31.

Members whose dues are received in the CORD office after March 15 will receive current publications unless no stock remains, in which case they will receive another recent issue. Publication print runs are based on current membership figures and include a limited number of over-runs projected to accommodate members who join after March 15. To ensure receipt of publications, members are responsible for notifying the CORD office of address changes in a timely manner.

Membership fees are given below in U.S. dollars and may be paid by check or credit card. See <http://www.cordance.org> for current information.
