THE STAPLE INN ACTUARIAL SOCIETY

The Staple Inn Actuarial Society was founded in 1910 as the Institute of Actuaries Students' Society. Its original objectives were to assist its members to prepare for the Institute of Actuaries examinations and to give them practice in public speaking.

The Society has evolved to become a body arranging a wide variety of activities, both professional and social, designed to appeal primarily to students and recently qualified actuaries.

The objectives of the Society are to provide opportunities for younger members of the profession to:

- attend and participate in open discussions of professional interest and to prepare papers for publication and discussion
- acquire skills and information in areas related to the profession or their occupation which are not otherwise readily available
- have social contact with each other

The Society meets regularly for informal discussion of matters of professional interest, publishes a magazine, The Actuary, distributed free to all members of the Faculty and Institute, represents the interests of younger members in questions relating to the development of the profession, liaises with other actuarial societies within the UK and organises a busy programme of social events.

All enquiries should be addressed to the Honorary Secretary, The Staple Inn Actuarial Society, Staple Inn Hall, High Holborn, London WC1V 7QJ. Tel: +44 (0)171 632 2100. Fax: +44 (0)171 632 2111. E-mail: institute@actuaries.org.uk
