The Society, founded in 1879 to advance the study of Greek language, literature, history and art, maintains conjointly with the Society for the Promotion of Roman Studies:

The Society for the Promotion of Roman Studies

50 BEDFORD SQUARE, LONDON, W.C.1

President: PROFESSOR RONALD SYME, F.B.A.

The subjects to promote the study of which the Society was formed are the history, archaeology and art of Rome, Italy and the Roman Empire in general down to about 700 A.D. In particular, so far as its resources permit, and so far as is possible without prejudice to the wider objects with which it is concerned, the Society endeavours to encourage the study of Britain under Roman occupation by devoting space in its Journal to articles on Romano-British history and archaeology.

In connexion with the Society for the Promotion of Hellenic Studies the Society maintains a joint library of works on classical antiquity, and a collection of lantern slides and photographs. Members are entitled to borrow books and slides, and these can be sent to them by post. Communications about books and slides should be addressed to the Librarian at 50 Bedford Square.

Afternoon meetings for the reading and discussion of papers are held at Burlington House, Piccadilly, W.1. Numerous meetings are also held in University and other towns. Notices of all meetings are sent to members.

The Journal of Roman Studies, which is open to the contributions of both British and foreign scholars, is published by the Society now in one annual volume, and is sent post free to all members at the end of the year.

The Annual Subscription for membership of the Society is two pounds. The composition fee for life membership is twenty guineas for persons over fifty years of age, and thirty guineas for others. Student Associates are admitted at the reduced subscription of one pound.

Persons desirous of joining the Society are asked to communicate with the Secretary at the Haverfield Library, Ashmolean Museum, Oxford.
