NOTES ON CONTRIBUTORS

NKPAROM CLAUDE EJITUWU is Professor and Head of the Department of History at the University of Port Harcourt (Nigeria). His most recent book is A History of Obolo (Andoni) in the Niger Delta (1991).

ODILE GOERG is maîtresse de conférences in contemporary history at the University of Strasbourg II. Her thesis was published in 1986 as Commerce et colonisation en Guinée, 1850–1915; she is now working on a comparison of urban politics in Conakry and Freetown in the period of colonisation.

CHRISTINE MULLEN KREAMER is Visiting Curator of the National Museum of Natural History's African Voices Project in Washington, D.C. Among other curatorial projects, she organised in 1989 the two-year travelling exhibition 'Wild Spirits, Strong Medicines: African art and the wilderness' for the Center of African Art in New York.

ODE OGEDE teaches in the Department of English at Ahmadu Bello University, Zaria (Nigeria). He edits the journal Saiwa, and has published numerous essays and reviews in the field of oral literature and the African novel.

JAN H. B. DEN OUDEN teaches social anthropology in the Department of the Sociology of Rural Development at Wageningen Agricultural University, the Netherlands. After research on untouchables in south India and among Bamiléké in Cameroon, he worked for several years in Bénin. Most recently he has started research in Zimbabwe.

MARIANO PAVANELLO has been Professor of Ethnology in the University of Pisa since 1985; he is working on economic and social change in south-west Ghana but has also done fieldwork in Kenya (1985), Burkina Faso (1986–87) and Ghana (1989). His most recent books are Sistemi umani (1992) and La società acquisitiva e i fondamenti razionali dello scambio (1993). He edits the journal Etnosistemi.
