

Between Memory and Desire

The Middle East in a Troubled Age

R. Stephen Humphreys

"An outstanding piece of work on the relationship between secular and religious politics in the Middle East. It brings together medieval, modern, and contemporary Middle East history beautifully in a book of exceptional clarity and depth. Humphreys is nonjudgmental yet candid, focused yet comprehensive. His integration of early Islamic and contemporary history is novel, bold, and successful."

NEFERTITI

EGYPT'S SUN QUEEN

JOYCE TYLDESLEY

In the tradition of her intriguing Hatchepsut, Joyce Tyldesley rescues another female ruler from the shadows of history (c. 1350 b.c.): Queen Nefertiti (literally "a beautiful woman has come"). Wife of Akhenaten, the monotheistic pharaoh, adored by her family, blessed by the sun god, and worshiped by her people, Nefertiti suddenly and completely vanished from the record. She may have been banished by her husband, or promoted to rule alongside him as his equal. She might have been the éminence grise behind the young Tutankhamen, her son-in-law.

Tyldesley synergizes archeological, textual, and artistic evidence in a detailed discussion of Nefertiti's life and times at the ephemeral and heretical Amarna court, and radically re-creates the woman who was the most influential in the Bronze Age world. 16 pp. of b/w photos, 38 figures, 2 maps.

Islamic Legal Orthodoxy

Consensus and the Development of the Twelver Shiite Legal Madhhab

Devin J. Stewart

"This book will change the way its readers think about Islamic law, about the relations between Shi'ism and Sunnism. Perhaps most importantly, they will have to rethink the glib clichés about the doctrine of consensus that are even today carved into the standard introductory textbooks on Islam."
