Join the APSA Experts Database

APSA members can sign up to be included in our Experts Database to connect with media requests for professionals in all areas of political science.

As part of the APSA Public Engagement Program, the experts database promotes dialogue between political scientists and the public to foster better understanding of political science and share insights from the discipline with broad audiences. APSA's public engagement program supports political scientists with resources, training, and opportunities to share their research. APSA highlights members' media interviews, blogs, and op-eds in the weekly press gallery series available on www.politicalsciencenow.com.

Join us for the 16th American Political Science Association (APSA) Teaching & Learning Conference (TLC). The conference will take place February 7-9, 2020 in Albuquerque, New Mexico, to explore the conference theme, "Teaching to Empower Students." As students encounter an often tumultuous reality that includes an evolving academy, uncertain job markets, and an increasingly contentious political sphere, how can we empower them to thrive in their educational and individual pursuits and ensure that they are prepared to solve tomorrow's problems?

Coming
August 2019
