Atlantic Empires

THE NETWORK OF TRADE AND REVOLUTION, 1713-1826

Peggy K. Liss

International relations in the eighteenth century — particularly those involving Atlantic imperial powers and their colonies — went much deeper than war and trade. In Atlantic Empires, Peggy Liss explores the complex network of commerce, revolution, and ideology which bound Britain and Iberia to their colonies in the Americas and shaped events in all of those areas.

Liss presents a fresh interpretation of the eighteenth-century revolutions and of the intellectual and political ferment that accompanied the breakup of the old empires and the formation of the new American nations. $29.95

Main Currents in Caribbean Thought

THE HISTORICAL EVOLUTION OF CARIBBEAN SOCIETY IN ITS IDEOLOGICAL ASPECTS, 1492-1900

Gordon K. Lewis

"This is a splendid book — broad and important, wise and informed, elegant in expression and persuasive in personal commitment."—Richard M. Morse, Stanford University

The most significant work to date by one of the leaders of modern Caribbean scholarship. Gordon Lewis probes deeply into the multicultural origins of Caribbean society, tracing the evolution of the distinctive ideology that has arisen from the region's unique historical mixture of peoples and beliefs. $25.00

The Man-of-Words in the West Indies

PERFORMANCE AND THE EMERGENCE OF CREOLE CULTURE

Roger D. Abrabams

One of the nation's leading authorities on Afro-American culture here looks at language and folklore in the West Indies. Roger Abraham's vivid recreations of ritualized speechmaking in traditional West Indian villages reveal the verbal contest to be the defining pattern and the performer, or "man-of-words," to be the paradigmatic figure in modern Afro-American society. $24.50 hardcover, $12.95 paperback

Rituals of Marginality

Politics, Process, and Culture Change in Central Urban Mexico, 1969–1974

by Carlos G. Vélez-Ibañez

This political ethnography of a squatter city analyzes the process of political organization among the “marginalized” population of Netzahuacoyotl Izcalli, the fourth largest city in Mexico. “Vélez has done an extraordinary job.”—Eric R. Wolf $27.50

Women in Hispanic Literature

Icons and Fallen Idols

Edited by Beth Miller

While this pioneering collection shows ample evidence of the dual archetype of woman as icon and woman as fallen idol, the essays reach beyond these stereotypes to more complex sociological and theoretical concerns. $27.00
