THE BRITISH ACADEMY

CROMER GREEK PRIZE

WITH the view of maintaining and encouraging the study of Greek, particularly among the young, in the national interest, the late Lord Cromer founded a Prize, to be administered by the British Academy, for the best Essay on any subject connected with the language, history, art, literature, or philosophy of Ancient Greece.

The Prize, which is ordinarily a sum of £40, is awarded annually in March, under the following Rules:—

1. Competition is open to all British subjects of either sex who will be under twenty-six years of age on 31 December preceding the award.

2. Any such persons desirous of competing must send in to the Secretary of the British Academy on or before 1 June of the year preceding the award the title of the subject proposed by him or her. The Academy may approve (with or without modification) or disapprove the subject; their decision will be intimated to the competitor as soon as possible.

3. Preference will be given, in approval of subjects proposed, to those which deal with aspects of the Greek genius and civilization of large and permanent significance over those which are of a minute or highly technical character.

4. Any Essay already published, or which has already received or is in competition for another prize of the same nature, will be inadmissible. A candidate to whom the Prize has been awarded will not be eligible to compete for it again. But an Essay which has not received the Prize may be submitted again (with or without alteration) in a future year so long as the writer remains eligible under Rule 1.

5. Essays of which the subject has been approved must be sent in to the Secretary of the Academy on or before 31 December. They must be typed (or, if the author prefers, printed), and should have a note attached stating the main sources of information used.

6. It is recommended that the Essays should not exceed 20,000 words, exclusive of notes. Notes should not run to an excessive length.

Communications should be addressed to 'The Secretary of the British Academy, Burlington House, Piccadilly, London, W.'

The Society for the Promotion of Roman Studies.

50, BEDFORD SQUARE, LONDON, W.C. 1

President: DR. H. IDRIS BELL, C.B., O.B.E., F.B.A.

THE subjects to promote the study of which the Society was formed are the history, archæology and art of Rome, Italy and the Roman Empire in general down to about 700 A.D. In particular, so far as its resources permit, and so far as is possible without prejudice to the wider objects with which it is concerned, the Society endeavours to encourage the study of Britain under Roman occupation by devoting space in its Journal to articles on Romano-British history and archæology.

In connexion with the Society for the Promotion of Hellenic Studies the Society maintains a joint library of works on classical antiquity, and a collection of lantern-slides and photographs. Members are entitled to borrow books and slides, and these can be sent to them by post. Communications about books and slides should be addressed to the Librarian at 50 Bedford Square.

Afternoon meetings for the reading and discussion of papers are held at Burlington House, Piccadilly, W.1, and one evening meeting is arranged for the discussion of a subject useful to teachers of Roman history. Numerous meetings are also held in University and other towns. Notices of all meetings are sent to members.

The Journal of Roman Studies, which is open to the contributions of both British and foreign scholars, is published by the Society in half-yearly parts, and is sent post free to all members.

The Annual Subscription for membership of the Society is one guinea. The composition fee for life membership is ten guineas for persons over fifty years of age, and fifteen guineas for others. Student Associates are admitted at the reduced subscription of 10s. 6d.

Persons desirous of joining the Society are asked to communicate with the Secretary at the Haverfield Library, Ashmolean Museum, Oxford.

The Classical Association.

The objects of the Classical Association are to promote the development and maintain the well-being of classical studies, and in particular (a) to impress upon public opinion the claim of such studies to an eminent place in the national scheme of education; (b) to improve the practice of classical teaching; (c) to encourage investigation and call attention to new discoveries; (d) to create opportunities for intercourse among lovers of classical learning.

Membership of the Association is open to men and women alike. The annual subscription is 5s. (life composition, £3 15s.). Members receive a copy of the annual Proceedings of the Association and, on a payment of 2/6, of *The Year's Work in Classical Studies (both post free). They may also obtain the Classical Review and Classical Quarterly at reduced prices, though the reduction cannot be guaranteed unless the subscription is paid before January 31st in each year. Greece and Rome may be obtained for an annual subscription of 7s. 6d.

Applications for membership should be addressed to the Hon. Treasurer of the Association (Miss Gedge, Westfield College [University of London], Hampstead, N.W. 3). Inquiries should be addressed to either of the Hon. Secretaries of the Association (J. J. R. Bridge, C.B.E., Mutcombe, Fairfield Park, Bath, and W. S. Barrett, Esq., Keble College, Oxford), or to the Hon. Secretary of any one of the Local Branches, viz., Aberystwyth, Bedford and Northampton, Birmingham, Bristol, Cardiff, East Anglia, Hull, Kent, Leeds, Leicester, Liverpool, London, Manchester, Northumberland and Durham, North Wales, Nottingham, Oxford, Reading, Sheffield, Southampton, South Western, Sussex, Swansea, Taunton and West Somerset.

* Publication of the year's work is temporarily suspended.

GOETHE AND THE GREEKS

By HUMPHRY TREVELYAN

Gives a clear account of the facts upon which the student must base his appreciation of Goethe's attitude to Greece, and establishes the extent of the poet's knowledge of Greek things at every stage of his development.

"Rarely is a scholar so fine as Mr Trevelyan gifted also with the width and warmth of outlook as is shown in this careful and wise study of Goethe's long search for the secret of Greek art's poise and beauty."

THE CHALLENGE OF THE GREEK AND OTHER ESSAYS

By T. R. GLOVER

"Readers of Dr Glover's books", says a reviewer in The Times Literary Supplement (recently, but of another book), "will not need to be told that he has the gift of bringing to life a past age, and of opening up to the imagination of modern readers the range and content of its action and thought. The several qualifications (of scholar, historian, and man of letters) needed for such work are possessed by few of his contemporaries."

The new book contains thirteen essays about aspects of Greek life, most of them new to print, some of them read before learned gatherings, but all of them, without exception, right for that General Reader for whom Dr Glover always intends and gives his best.

THE THEORY OF MOTION IN PLATO'S LATER DIALOGUES

By J. A. SKEMP

Cambridge Classical Studies

Aristotle has generally been regarded as the father of the "cosmological argument". This may be true in so far as he is the originator of the form of the argument, but the matter is derived immediately from the Plato of the later dialogues. This fact has been obscured by the dogma that Plato's metaphysics consists entirely in the doctrine of Forms as he employs and modifies it. The writer here attempts to formulate the doctrine of κίνησις found in the later dialogues, to trace its pre-Socratic ancestry, and to distinguish it in certain particulars from Aristotelian doctrines with which it was soon confused even by professed Platonists.

THE ANGLO-HELLENIC LEAGUE

The Anglo-Hellenic League was founded in 1913, and its aims are to strengthen the ties between Britain and Greece and to promote friendship between the British and Hellenic races by spreading information encouraging travel, and improving social, commercial and international relations.

The League is an independent, non-governmental and non-political institution.

The lamented death of His Royal Highness the Duke of Kent has left vacant for the time being the office of President and Chief Patron of the League, a loss which the League feels very deeply. The Chairman of its Executive Committee is the Rt. Honble. Sir Percy Loraine, Bt., G.C.M.G.

The events of the war and the Anglo-Greek alliance have widened the opportunities for service and activity of the Anglo-Hellenic League. All those who are interested in Anglo-Hellenic friendship, in the cause of Greece, in the liberation of Greece from the present oppression, are cordially invited to apply for membership of the League.

Full particulars can be obtained on application from the Acting Honorary Secretary, Mrs. L. Metaxas, 23 Ralph Court, Queensway, London, W.2.
