Puccini's Turandot The End of the Great Tradition William Ashbrook and Harold Powers

Unfinished at Puccini's death in 1924, Turandot was not only his most ambitious work, but it became the last Italian opera to enter the international repertory. In this colorful study two renowned music scholars demonstrate that this work, despite the modern climate in which it was written, was a fitting finale for the centuries-old Great Tradition of Italian opera. They firmly establish Puccini's last work within the tradition of Rossini, Bellini, Donizetti, and Verdi.

"Not only does this book break new ground in Puccini scholarship, but it is also a significant contribution to operatic criticism in a broader sense. To my knowledge there is nothing as complete and sophisticated as this on any of Puccini's operas."—Roger Parker,

Unsung Voices

Opera and Musical Narrative in the Nineteenth Century

Carolyn Abbate

Who "speaks" to us in The Sorcerer's Apprentice, in Wagner's operas, in a Mahler symphony? In asking this question, Carolyn Abbate opens nineteenth-century operas and instrumental works to new interpretations as she explores the voices projected by music. Evoking contemporary literary theory and semiotics as well as music theory, Abbate crosses disciplines to recover a sense of music's aural, physical, and temporal force as a performed art.

"Carolyn Abbate is already well-known as one of the most brilliant of our younger Wagner critics.... Unsung Voices, which is both selfconsciously provocative and grounded in a deep knowledge of the works examined, will contribute to the emergence of a "new musicology." —Jean-Jacques Nattiez, University of Montreal

W. A. Mozart: Die Zauberflöte

PETER BRANSCOMBE

Few operas have had more written about them than Die Zauberflöte, yet few are as often exposed to misguided comment and idiosyncratic productions. This book sets out a straightforward account of the opera, exposing the half-truths and legends that have proliferated since its first production in 1791. £30.00 net HB 0.521 26491 X 263 pp. £9.95 net PB 0.521 31916 1 Cambridge Opera Handbooks

W. A. Mozart: La clemenza di Tito JOHN RICE

In this first book to be devoted to La clemenza di Tito, John Rice considers the opera from both historical and critical viewpoints, analysing Mestasio's libretto, Mozart's revisions and the compositional process, as well as providing a discography, bibliography and a selection of production photographs. *E*27.50 net HB 0.521 36142.7 196 pp.

Italian Opera

Italy was the birthplace of opera. In this authoritative and accessible account of Italian opera David Kimbell introduces the composers and dramatists, the singers and audiences who, over 300 years, have created the central tradition from which others have drawn their inspiration.

Manuscripts should be double spaced throughout (including footnotes, etc.) and should be typed on one side of the paper with ample margins. Contributors with word processors are requested to underline rather than use an italic font, and to avoid justification of right margins, automatic hyphenation and bold face type.

Footnotes should be numbered consecutively and be typed, double spaced, on separate pages at the end. Musical examples, figures, tables, etc. should also be supplied on separate sheets.

Contributors who wish to reproduce photographs should provide good black and white prints, full details of the source and the full address of the copyright holder if this differs. Photographs will not normally be considered unless they are an intrinsic part of the contribution, and their inclusion will always be at the discretion of the editors. The full address of the copyright holder should also be provided for any other material used in which the contributor does not hold copyright.

Punctuation should follow standard British practice. Single quotation marks should be used with double reserved for quotations within quotations. Punctuation that is not part of the quoted material should be outside closing quotation marks, as should footnote indicators. Longer quotations should be indented left without quotation marks and double spaced. Prose citations should be in English unless the original is of particular importance, unpublished or inaccessible, in which case the original should be followed by a translation in square brackets. Verse citations should be in the original language followed by a prose translation in square brackets.

Dates should be on the following model: c. 1740, 1840s, 5 February 1943. References should be to: Act I scene 2, op. 1 no. 2 in E major, Ex. 12 and Exx. 12–14, Fig. 3 and Figs. 6–9, motif(s) and leitmotif(s). For precise identification of pitch, use this system:

First proofs may be read and corrected by contributors provided that they can give the editors an address through which they can be reached without delay and are able to return the corrected proofs, by airmail where necessary, within three days of receipt.

DANCE RESEARCH

Editor: Dr Richard Ralph, London Contemporary Dance School

As of 1990 Dance Research has been published by Oxford University Press. Now in its ninth volume the journal has won widespread acclaim for the interest and diversity of its contents: for its mixture of the scholarly and the informal, technical and journalistic. Many of the articles break new ground whilst covering the broad spectrum of dance topics, ranging from the history of European theatre to dance anthropology and Renaissance spectacle. Attractively produced, the journal is fully illustrated with fascinating archive material.
