Tough Thinking

from Chicago

Revolution of the Ordinary

Literary Studies after Wittgenstein, Austin, and Cavell
Toril Moi

“A milestone in literary studies. In lucid and invigorating prose, Moi shows how a certain picture of ‘literary theory’ has held us captive and offers a brilliant and devastating analysis of its weaknesses. Drawing on the tradition of ordinary language philosophy, she offers a new vision of how we might think and read.”
—Rita Felski, author of The Limits of Critique

PAPER $30.00

Tough Enough

Arbus, Arendt, Didion, McCarthy, Sontag, Weil
Deborah Nelson

“Frankly feminist, Tough Enough argues that while sentimentalism has earned enormous critical attention, the unsentimental has largely gone unprocessed by literary critics and theorists. This superb book about women, style, criticism, politics, and misogyny is the beginning of the end of that.”
—Bonnie Honig, author of Antigone, Interrupted

PAPER $25.00

Unthought

The Power of the Cognitive Nonconscious
N. Katherine Hayles

“Hayles shows that if we think of cognition as pattern recognition and the capacity to respond to environmental changes, then most living things and many technical devices are cognizers. This cutting-edge, one-of-a-kind book offers a model of how to mediate between science and philosophy in an intelligent and respectful way.”
—Laura Otis, author of Rethinking Thought

PAPER $24.00

The Bond of the Furthest Apart

Essays on Tolstoy, Dostoevsky, Bresson, and Kafka
Sharon Cameron

“The Bond of the Furthest Apart is a powerful description of the ethical dimension of aesthetic experience and is in conversation with some of the best work in continental philosophy. It will have a broad appeal across film studies, literary studies, and philosophy.”
—Brian Price, University of Toronto

PAPER $30.00

From Reaktion

Mikhail Bulgakov

J. A. E. Curtis

“A controversial dramatist, closet novelist of genius, and theologian’s son trained as a medical doctor, Bulgakov more than any other Stalinist-era writer balanced the realities of the wounded body and the transcendent spirit. Curtis shows how Bulgakov’s creative gifts were crippled as well as inspired by the caprice and charisma of power.”
—Caryl Emerson, Princeton University

PAPER $19.00

Arthur Koestler

Edward Saunders

Koestler wrote enduring works of reportage and memoir, but he is most famous for his political novel Darkness at Noon. Differentiating the life Koestler led from the story he wanted to tell about it and various ways the public has influenced his reputation after his death, this book offers a balanced portrait of a vibrant figure in twentieth-century arts and letters.

Teaching the Literatures of the American Civil War

Edited by Colleen Glenney Boggs

“[This] book stands as an implicit refutation of Whitman’s famous claim that ‘the real wars will never get into the books’ and of Daniel Aaron’s more recent description of ‘the unwritten war.’ More important, it provides numerous points of access for instructors of this growing field.”
