This issue marks the tenth anniversary of the publication of the American Journal of Law & Medicine. The Journal has been privileged during the past ten years to publish treatises on important and timely medicolegal topics. To commemorate this ten year anniversary, the Journal is pleased to publish two articles which address a topic of great concern: treatment decisions regarding handicapped infants.

On behalf of the American Society of Law & Medicine and the Boston University School of Law, the Editorial Boards and Staff of the Journal thank its authors and readers for their prior contributions and support and look forward to continuing to provide an effective forum for scholarly discourse and debate.
