German Immigrants Write Home

Edited by WALTER D. KAMPHOEFNER, WOLFGANG HELBICH, and ULRIKE SOMMER. Translated by Susan Carter Vogel. In this major collection of letters, German immigrants in the United States write back to friends and family in Germany. From across America they recount the events of the years 1830–1930. Farmers, miners, female servants, factory workers, businessmen—whatever their occupation, these immigrants capture in poignant detail the challenge of adapting to life in a foreign land, of becoming Americans. Documents in American Social History. $35.00

Consumer Cooperation in France

The Politics of Consumption, 1834–1930

By ELLEN FURLOUGH. “Furlough’s lucid history of the consumer cooperative movement in France before the Great Depression clearly surpasses all previous work on the subject.”—Donald Reid, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill. $37.95

Alternating Currents

Nationalized Power in France, 1946–1970

By ROBERT L. FROST. “The best historical account of the operations and politics of a nationalized firm that I have yet encountered.”—John Weiss, Cornell University. $37.50

We Will Rise in Our Might

Workingwomen’s Voices from Nineteenth-Century New England

By MARY BLEWETT. This collection assembles a rich cache of documentary materials that illuminate women’s involvement in the industrialization of the northeastern United States. The documents she selects reveal the significance of gender in the formation of working-class consciousness, ideology, and institutions. Documents in American Social History. $35.00 cloth, $11.95 paper

Daughters of the Shtetl

Life and Labor in the Immigrant Generation

By SUSAN A. GLENN. New in Paper! “Glenn’s Daughters of the Shtetl is an important contribution to three subfields of American history: the history of immigration, women’s history, and labor history. Unlike too much recent social history, it never forgets the individual human beings who are its subjects.”—Roger Daniels, University of Cincinnati. $13.95

Work Engendered

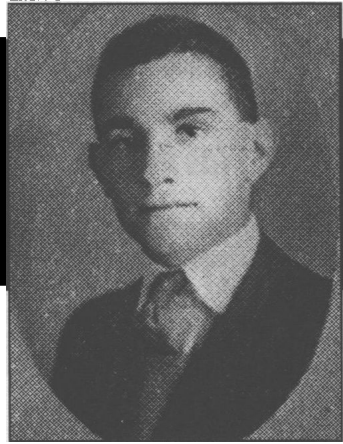

Toward a New History of American Labor

Edited by AVA BARON. “A first-rate collection of essays. Ava Baron’s introduction beautifully sets forth the terms of what should become a new labor history.”—Joan W. Scott, Institute for Advanced Study, Princeton. This book sheds new light on the importance of gender for economic and class analysis and for the history of men as well as women workers. $42.50 cloth, $13.95 paper

HISTORY BIOGRAPHY LABOR STUDIES

An American Engineer in Stalin's Russia

The Memoirs of Zara Witkin,
1932-1934

Edited and with an Introduction by MICHAEL GELB

In 1932 Zara Witkin, a prominent American engineer, set off for the Soviet Union with two goals: to help build a society more just and rational than the bankrupt capitalist system at home, and to seek out the beautiful film star Emma Tsesarskaia. His memoirs offer an eye-witness view of Stalin's bureaucracy. Punctuating this document is the story of Witkin's passion for Tsesarskaia and the record of his friendships with journalist Eugene Lyons, planner Ernst May, and others.

Shoulder to Shoulder?

The American Federation of Labor, the United States, and the Mexican Revolution,
1910-1924

GREGG ANDREWS

How did organized labor in the U.S. react to the Mexican Revolution, and what was the effect of that reaction? Andrews shows that Samuel Gompers and the American Federation of Labor significantly helped to shape United States policy toward revolutionary nationalist movements in Latin America

I Came a Stranger

The Story of a
Hull-House Girl

Hilda Satt Polacheck

Edited by Dena J.

Polacheck Epstein

With an introduction by Lynn Y. Weiner

"In rough-edged but simple and direct prose, [Polacheck] vividly describes the working-class Chicago of her time and the events that swirled around it, such as women's suffrage and the Haymarket Riot, and especially the vigorous activities at Hull-House." — Henry Kisor, Chicago Sun-Times. Illus. Cloth, $24.95; paper, $12.95.

Strike!

Mary Heaton Vorse

With an introduction by

Dee Garrison

The most famous of the bloody textile industry strikes of the late 1920s and early 1930s took place at the Loray Mill in Gastonia, North Carolina, where fifty-five-hour work weeks were the norm and pay was so low that everyone over sixteen had to work if families were to survive. Strike is a vivid portrait of the mill workers' living and working conditions, the first of six inspired by the Gastonia strike. Critics hailed it as the best. Paper, $15.95.

SECOND EDITION

Raya Dunayevskaya

With a foreword by Adrienne Rich

"The work of Raya Dunayevskaya has been unjustly neglected. I can think of only one good reason why this should be so: academic smugness. . . . Yet it is more profitable to engage with this writer in essential dialogue about the world's prospects than with countless others who are more popular [or] prestigious." — George Armstrong Kelly, in Political Theory.
